WISCONSIN RAPIDS DAILY TRIBUNE

TENTH YEAR—NO. 3008. WISCONSIN RAPIDS, WIS., TUESDAY MAY 8, 1923. PRICE THREE CENTS

EIGHT AMERICANS IN HANDS OF BANDITS

DAIRY COWS OF WOOD COUNTY GO TO MANY STATES

POSITION OF LEADERSHIP ATTESTED BY HEAVY DEMAND FROM DISTANT BUYERS; 825 HEAD SHIPPED IN 1922.

Outranking all Wisconsin river valley counties and ranking second only to Waupaca county in the whole of central Wisconsin, Wood county demonstrated its right to a place among the dairy leaders of the state in 1922 by the shipment of 825 head of fine dairy breeding stock to points outside the state. Shipments made from the county during that year, according to a report of Paul O. Nyhus, agricultural statistician of the Wisconsin department of agriculture, went to fourteen states and the Dominion of Canada, distributed geographically from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans and from the Gulf of Mexico to Manitoba.

Buyers Seek Quality

Shipments of dairy cattle to distant states, it is pointed out, are an index of the quality rather than the number of Wood county cattle. The fact that the county shipped a much larger number of cattle to points outside the state than did many counties with a considerably larger dairy cattle population indicates that animals of high quality are available here and that buyers, willing to pay high prices for the right kind of stock, are attracted here.

Illinois with 208 and Iowa with 148 were the heaviest buyers of Wood county dairy animals, but South Dakota, Nebraska and other states also took large numbers. Following is the exact distribution of the 825 animals California, 27; Colorado, 23; Georgia, 22; Indiana, 5; Maryland, 19; Nebraska, 62; North Dakota, 22; Washington, 16; Canada, 44; Florida, 48; Illinois, 208; Iowa, 148; Minnesota, 42; New York, 23; South Dakota, 116.

Waupaca County First

Waupaca county, with a total of 3,766 head, was the second county in the state in volume of shipments to outside points, and the only central Wisconsin county to ship more than Wood county. The number of cattle shipped by other nearby counties follows: Portage, 522; Marquette, 182; Juneau, 493; Jackson, 119; Clark, 332; Marathon, 210; Shawano, 89. No cattle at all were shipped out side the state from either Adams or Waushara counties.

Vesper was possibly the heaviest shipping point for Wood county dairy cattle, but large numbers also came from Rudolph, Arpin, Auburndale, Marshfield and other points.

Due principally to the development of the dairy industry, improved farm land in Wood county is worth more than in any other central Wisconsin county except Waupaca. Figures given by the Wisconsin Monthly Crop and Livestock Reporter show the following values per acre: Waupaca, $112; Wood, $110; Green Lake, $100; Portage, $82; Juneau, $71; Marquette, $66; Waushara, $65; Adams, $48; Marathon, $103; Clark, $94; Jackson, $80.

Bill to Force Teaching of Constitution Killed

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., May 7—The Matheson bill, requiring the teaching of the United States constitution in all public and private schools before the eighth grade, was killed by the assembly today without a record vote.

THE WEATHER

Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, freezing temperature tonight; somewhat warmer Wednesday afternoon.

Farmers Brave Blizzard; Come For Dollar Day

The Weather Man did his worst for the big Dollar Day sales event and fair day today but he failed to frighten away over three hundred farmers who braved the driving blizzard and visited the city to take advantage of the big sales event day offerings and the hospitality of the Wisconsin Rapids Retail Merchants who served a free lunch to the visitors in the Amusement Hall at noon today.

Plenty of Lunch

Preparations were made for serving over twelve hundred people but instead only slightly more than one quarter of that number were served. There was plenty for everyone and those who did attend had all they wanted to eat. The steaming hot coffee and the appetizing sandwiches tasted good to those who had driven miles to come to the city.

One farmer stated that he had come thirty miles today. During the serving time, J. A. Cohen, chairman of the committee auctioned off surplus loaves of rye bread at bargain prices and the man who came thirty miles was given an added loaf for his long trip.

Stores not Idle

The stores were not idle today although business was not so rushing it couldn't be handled. Many good bargain items on the list made business better than it would normally be on such a day.

Local businessmen were good sports about the day and laughingly swallowed the weather sent for the day. It has been an unfortunate coincidence that many of the bargain and fair days have been ruined by inclement weather, but the association members are good "stickers" and say they will see the monthly sales events through to a finish believing that the luck will break their way ultimately.

Farmers were equally disappointed as many stated to a Tribune representative that hundreds more would have attended to make the day a big success had the weather been favorable.

Conservation Commission Law Ready for Signature

Madison, Wis.—The A. E. Smith bill for an one-man conservation commission is before Gov. John J. Blaine for his signature when it will become a law.

Immediately after the signing of the bill the name of Elmer S. Hall will be sent to the legislature for confirmation as commissioner.

When Mr. Hall becomes the only commissioner, he will appoint Brayton Webster and C. L. Harrington present commissioners as his assistants.

The creation of a one-man conservation commission is the fulfillment of another plan of the Governor's.

The conservation commissioner will serve for six yeares under his appointment at a salary of $5,000 a year. Mr. Webster is an expert on fisheries and Mr. Harrington will be the forestry expert of the office.

Operation Beneficial to County Clerk Sam Church

Word has been received from County Clerk Sam Church, who underwent an operation at St. Mary's Hospital, Wausau, this past week that the operation was highly successful and that he is gaining in nice shape and will probably be dismissed from the hospital within the next week. Mr. Church was forced on account of ill health to take a leave of absence from his official duties at the court house and will spend the summer in regaining his strength. His many friends will be pleased to hear of his improved condition.

Thanks Committee

J. A. Cohen, president of the Chamber of Comerce, and chairman of the Inch committee of the Retilers Ass'n., stopped in at the Tribune office this afternoon and announced that he wished to publicly thank the members of the committee who prepared and served the lunch this noon in behalf of the association. Those to whom we are indebted are Fred Turbin, A. C. Sjerck, Fred Link, John E. Daly, Ed. Smith, Henry Kruger, Ed. Rickman, Carl Nord, H. A. Horschleb, Ray Rankin, F. D. Abel, W. A. Blackstone, W. G. Henke, Wm. Schill, F. Ragan and others who faithfully performed their duties", Mr. Cohen said.

Wisconsin, Minnesota Are Swept By May Blizzard

SNOW COVERS FIELDS OF TWO STATES; HAS HELPED TO EXTINGUISH FOREST FIRES; HELPS CROPS IN STATE.

(By Associated Press)

Superior, Wis., May 8—Covering summer's mantle of green, half an inch of snow fell in and around Superior during the night, part melting and part staying on the ground.

The temperature dropped to 30 degrees above zero during the night but raised to 33 above this morning. The snow started falling about nine o'clock this morning.

Wausau, Wis., May 8—A light snow has been falling here since four o'clock this morning, with the temperature just above the freezing point.

The moisture was badly needed as very dry conditions existed. There was a drizzling rain yesterday and that, with the snow today, has extinguished the many small forest fires in this section of the state.

La Crosse, Wis., May 8—A driving snow storm, almost approaching the proportions of a blizzard, affected a wintry turn in the weather here today. The temperature was 38 at eleven o'clock.

Janesville, Wis., May 8—A flurry of snow, driven by icy winds visited this city Tuesday morning. The mercury fell 23 degrees from Monday's mark.

12 Above Zero

St. Paul, Minn., May 8—Light flurries in Minnesota and cold weather in other states of the Northwest was reported today. It was 12 above zero here this monring. Today's snowfall followed a wet, heavy fall in Minnesota and North Dakota last night.

One death resulted. Charles Howells, 19, being drowned when his canoe capsized during a wind storm.

It was one of the latest snow storms for the season on record here.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 8—Mercury rose to 100 degrees here yesterday afternoon for the highest record for May 7.

Ashland, Wis. May 8.—A heavy lizzard with driving snows is reported to be making navigation difficult on Lake Superior today. Extensive ice fields driven by a strong northeast wind adds to the hazard.

The storm over this section is not doing any material damage to crops and will help the dry areas if freezing does not occur this evening, is the belief of many farmers who were in the city today to attend the sales at the different dollar day stores.

Although an unusual amount of snow has fallen it has melted as fast as it lands and the ground is fairly well saturated with the melted snow. If warm weather comes after the storm the territory visited will be benefitted to a great extent as the continued dry weather has had a detrimental effect upon Wisconsin crops which were delayed from the beginning by the continued cold weather.

A snow storm during the month of May in this locality is not without precedent as past records reveal a snow storm of even greater proporaions than that of today on May 8, 1904 and another in May 1909.

Shortly after two o'cock the registered temperature was at 34 and was still falling slighty with indications that it would fall below the freezing point during the night.

Announcement has been made by the Wisconsin Rapids Street Railway Company that beginning tomorrow morning and continuing until the completion of the subway under the Northwestern railroad tracks at Lyon Park, all freight from this city for Port Edwards or Nekoosa must be delivered to the company at Lyon Park.

F. B. Seymour Has Been Railroading 52 Years

Green Bay—Fifty-two years in the harness and still going strong, is the record set by Frank B. Seymour, general manager of the Green Bay and Western road when he sat down at his office desk Monday morning. Mr. Seymour, who is probably the oldest railroad executive in point of service in the middle west, began his career as a water boy, working his way up, until now he is the virtual head of the Green Bay and Western railroad. He entered the employ of the local road May 7, 1871, and witnessed the completion of the first stretch of track.

BLAINE TAX BILL FACING BARRAGE OF AMENDMENTS

EXECUTIVE WON'T RECOGNIZE OWN MEASURE WHEN SENATE GETS THROUGH WITH IT IS GENERAL BELIEF

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., May 8—When Governor Blaine's general income tax bill reaches the senate Thursday it will face a barrage of intended amendments, which if adopted will completely change the effect of the measure. Senators will then ask that the proposal go over until the following week before action is taken, in order that the suggested changes may be studied.

Only one amendment will be pending at the time the bill is reached on the calendar, recommended by the finance committee for indefinite postponement. This would remove the section of the governor's bill making the tax commission a one-man commission. The governor is understood to be willing to accept this change. His one-man commission plan was proposed, it is understood, in an effort to get Judge Charles D. Rosa off the tax body.

Socialists Have Changes

The Socialists have a variety of proposed changes that will be submitted, according to Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee. Acceptance of these amendments would transform the governor's bill into much the same form of measure as that sponsored by Speaker John L. Dahl of the assembly.

They include complete repeal of the personal property offset, payment of income taxes in one installment instead of three; retention of the three man commission; taxation of stock dividends the same as income and redistribution of income tax proceeds to insure the cities of larger return.

Senator Herman Bilgrien, Iron Ridge, intends to offer a substitute amendment, designed to change the entire bill. Other senators have amendments that they will offer to make the bill conform to their ideas of what a tax measure should be like.

Defeat Is Anticipated

Leaders of both factions say that all proposed amendments probably will be defeated. Governor Blaine in his special message to the legislature declared that the structure of his bill could not be altered without emasculating the whole proposal. This is taken to indicate his opposition to any further change than removal of the one-man tax commission feature.

Unless drastically amended, few senators see any possibility of the bill getting through the upper house. The leaders of the opposition say that it will be receiving unusual support if 14 members of the 33 in the senate vote for its engrossment.

The governor's threatened veto of large appropriation for education purposes, if his bill does not become a law has failed to change any votes in either house. Members declare that the legislature is responsible for its actions within its own field, while the governor has his responsibilities as executive without attempting to assume the powers of the legislature.

Senator H. J. Severson went befor the joint committee on finance today to explain his income suitax bill, which will follow the governor's bill to the floor. He asked the committee to report the measure out without a recommendation, to be passed on when it reaches the floor.

Says Farmers now More Than University Experts

Madison, Wis.—The final effort to abolish university land clearing demonstrations will come in the state senate this week.

With the upper house about to concur in the assembly action in cutting off the $15,000 appropriation for demonstrations Senator Werden intruded a substitute amendment which would reduce theannual appropriation to $7,500. Should the upper house reject this amendment Land clearing demonstrations in Wisconsin will have come to an end.

Senator John Cashman is one of the leading opponents to a continuance of the Demonstrations although a farmer by occupation. Senator Cashman claims that farmers now living on the cut-over land of northern Wisconsin know more about methods of land clearing than the men sent out by the university to teach them.

Plea Denied, Prisoner Hangs Self

Waupun Wis. May 8.—His plea for pardon denied by the governor Charles Olm, a fifty year old prisoner at the state penitentiary, committed suicide by hanging in his cell last night. He was found by guards this morning.

Olm, three years ago killed his son-in-law, Fred Pickart of Fond du Lac county in a quarrel over the sale of a farm. He was sentenced to life imprisonment but this was later reduced to twenty years.

Recently he sought a full pardon.

Slight Hope For Miss Kromer; Is Paralytic Victim

Little hope is held out for the recovery of Miss Helen E. Kromer, Society Editress of the Tribune, who is now in a critical condition at Riverview Hospital, where she was immediately taken late Saturday afternoon following a stroke of paralysis with which she was stricken while attending to household duties at her apartment on Baker street.

Retains Consciousness

At the hospital it was reported that her condition has shown no improvement as was expected at this time in such cases in which recovery might be expected. While not unconscious she appears to be in almost a comotose condition and this has led her physician to believe that her recovery is doubtful. When aroused by attendants she indicates that she is not suffering any pain, although she is not able to speak very audibly or clearly, she has recognized a few of her intimate friends who have been allowed to see her.

Relatives Notified

Relatives of Miss Kromer in Minneapolis and Denver have been notified of her serious illness but are not expected in this city until more definite news of her condition is learned, as everything is being done by her friends to make her comfortable and every medical assistance is given her.

The Tribune and those most intimately acquainted with Miss Kromer, realizing her sensitiveness refrained from giving her case publicity hoping that she would make a more rapid recovery as is the case in many instances with people so stricken, but now that recovery is not likely, it is felt that the wide circle of friends of Miss Kromer should be informed of her condition.

Eugenics Law Change Is Still Thought Probable

Madison, Wis.—Although the senate refused to wipe out the state eugenics law the necessity for all males to undergo physical examinations before they can be licensed to wed may still be removed by the present legislature.

Under the terms of a substitute amendment offered in the senate by Senator Skogmo the man and woman about to wed would declare under oath before the county clerk that they are free from venereal disease.

The Skogmo plan is believed to meet the approval of those who wanted to abolish the physical examination requirement besides appealing to some who objected to entire abandonment of measures to curb marriages of people suffering with social diseases.

The Chinese newspaper Shun Pao, published in Shanghi, reported that Kang Tung Yu, its Sunday publisher, was captured and released. The bandits are said to be splitting into groups with their captives and scattering into the hills twenty miles from the railroad.

Must Deliver Freight to Street Cars at Lyon Park

Announcement has been made by the Wisconsin Rapids Street Railway Company that beginning tomorrow morning and continuing until the completion of the subway under the Northwestern railroad tracks at Lyon Park, all freight from this city for Port Edwards or Nekoosa must be delivered to the company at Lyon Park.

This ruling was made necessary for the temporary break in the company's line caused by the construction of the subway. No freight, it is announced, will be accepted for shipment from Nekoosa or Port Edwards to Wisconsin Rapids.

F. B. Seymour Has Been Railroading 52 Years

Green Bay—Fifty-two years in the harness and still going strong, is the record set by Frank B. Seymour, general manager of the Green Bay and Western road when he sat down at his office desk Monday morning. Mr. Seymour, who is probably the oldest railroad executive in point of service in the middle west, began his career as a water boy, working his way up, until now he is the virtual head of the Green Bay and Western railroad. He entered the employ of the local road May 7, 1871, and witnessed the completion of the first stretch of track.

BLAINE TAX BILL FACING BARRAGE OF AMENDMENTS

EXECUTIVE WON'T RECOGNIZE OWN MEASURE WHEN SENATE GETS THROUGH WITH IT IS GENERAL BELIEF

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., May 8—When Governor Blaine's general income tax bill reaches the senate Thursday it will face a barrage of intended amendments, which if adopted will completely change the effect of the measure. Senators will then ask that the proposal go over until the following week before action is taken, in order that the suggested changes may be studied.

Only one amendment will be pending at the time the bill is reached on the calendar, recommended by the finance committee for indefinite postponement. This would remove the section of the governor's bill making the tax commission a one-man commission. The governor is understood to be willing to accept this change. His one-man commission plan was proposed, it is understood, in an effort to get Judge Charles D. Rosa off the tax body.

Socialists Have Changes

The Socialists have a variety of proposed changes that will be submitted, according to Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee. Acceptance of these amendments would transform the governor's bill into much the same form of measure as that sponsored by Speaker John L. Dahl of the assembly.

They include complete repeal of the personal property offset, payment of income taxes in one installment instead of three retention of the three man commission, taxation of stock dividends the same as income and redistribution of income tax proceeds to insure the cities of larger return.

Senator Herman Bilgrien, Iron Ridge, intends to offer a substitute amendment, designed to change the entire bill. Other senators have amendments that they will offer to make the bill conform to their ideas of what a tax measure should be like.

Defeat Is Anticipated

Leaders of both factions say that all proposed amendments probably will be defeated. Governor Blaine in his special message to the legislature declared that the structure of his bill could not be altered without emasculating the whole proposal. This is taken to indicate his opposition to any further change than removal of the one-man tax commission feature.

Unless drastically amended, few senators see any possibility of the bill getting through the upper house. The leaders of the opposition say that it will be receiving unusual support if 14 members of the 33 in the senate vote for its engrossment.

The governor's threatened veto of large appropriation for education purposes, if his bill does not become a law has failed to change any votes in either house. Members declare that the legislature is responsible for its actions within its own field, while the governor has his responsibilities as executive without attempting to assume the powers of the legislature.

Senator H. J. Severson went befor the joint committee on finance today to explain his income surtax bill, which will follow the governor's bill to the floor. He asked the committee to report the measure out without a recommendation, to be passed on when it reaches the floor.

Says Farmers now More Than University Experts

Madison, Wis.—The final effort to abolish university land clearing demonstrations will come in the state senate this week.

With the upper house about to concur in the assembly action in cutting off the $15,000 appropriation for demonstrations Senator Werden intruded a substitute amendment which would reduce theannual appropriation to $7,500. Should the upper house reject this amendment Land clearing demonstrations in Wisconsin will have come to an end.

Senator John Cashman is one of the leading opponents to a continuance of the Demonstrations although a farmer by occupation. Senator Cashman claims that farmers now living on the cut-over land of northern Wisconsin know more about methods of land clearing than the men sent out by the university to teach them.

Plea Denied, Prisoner Hangs Self

Waupun Wis. May 8.—His plea for pardon denied by the governor Charles Olm, a fifty year old prisoner at the state penitentiary, committed suicide by hanging in his cell last night. He was found by guards this morning.

Olm, three years ago killed his son-in-law, Fred Pickart of Fond du Lac county in a quarrel over the sale of a farm. He was sentenced to life imprisonment but this was later reduced to twenty years.

Recently he sought a full pardon.

Slight Hope For Miss Kromer; Is Paralytic Victim

Little hope is held out for the recovery of Miss Helen E. Kromer, Society Editress of the Tribune, who is now in a critical condition at Riverview Hospital, where she was immediately taken late Saturday afternoon following a stroke of paralysis with which she was stricken while attending to household duties at her apartment on Baker street.

Retains Consciousness

At the hospital it was reported that her condition has shown no improvement as was expected at this time in such cases in which recovery might be expected. While not unconscious she appears to be in almost a comotose condition and this has led her physician to believe that her recovery is doubtful. When aroused by attendants she indicates that she is not suffering any pain, although she is not able to speak very audibly or clearly, she has recognized a few of her intimate friends who have been allowed to see her.

Relatives Notified

Relatives of Miss Kromer in Minneapolis and Denver have been notified of her serious illness but are not expected in this city until more definite news of her condition is learned, as everything is being done by her friends to make her comfortable and every medical assistance is given her.

The Tribune and those most intimately acquainted with Miss Kromer, realizing her sensitiveness refrained from giving her case publicity hoping that she would make a more rapid recovery as is the case in many instances with people so stricken, but now that recovery is not likely, it is felt that the wide circle of friends of Miss Kromer should be informed of her condition.

Eugenics Law Change Is Still Thought Probable

Madison, Wis.—Although the senate refused to wipe out the state eugenics law the necessity for all males to undergo physical examinations before they can be licensed to wed may still be removed by the present legislature.

Under the terms of a substitute amendment offered in the senate by Senator Skogmo the man and woman about to wed would declare under oath before the county clerk that they are free from venereal disease.

The Skogmo plan is believed to meet the approval of those who wanted to abolish the physical examination requirement besides appealing to some who objected to entire abandonment of measures to curb marriages of people suffering with social diseases.

CHINESE OUTLAWS DEMAND RANSOM FOR PRISONERS

AMERICAN AND ENGLISHMAN KILLED IN FIGHTING; FORMER UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN STUDENT ESCAPES

Shanghi, China, May 8—Fifteen foreigners, all men, eight of them Americans, still are in the hands of Suchow train bandits according to the latest report here today. Two others escaped and have reached Tsinan Fu.

Two lives were lost. Joseph Rothman, British, was shot down at the scene of the hold up Sunday, and an unidentified American was killed in the fighting between the bandits and the pursuant troops Monday.

Following is a list of the Americans held by the brigands:

Major Roland Pinger, Roland Pinger, Jr., Major Robert Allen, Robert Allen, Jr., all of Manila.

Leon Friedman, Chinese Motors Corporation, Shanghi.

J. B. Powell, editor of the Weekly Review, Shanghi.

Lee Solomon, Shanghi.

J. A. Henley, China and Far East Finance and Commerce Periodical, Shanghi.

Other captives include a number from Great Britain, France, Italy and Mexico.

Demand Heavy Ransome

Shanghi, China, May 8—Two foreigners, including one unidentified American have been killed in the shooting incident to the bandit raid on the Pekin express train, according to a list compiled here today.

One of the foreigners was Joseph Rothman, a British subject. Two escaped Chinese passengers arriving at Tsinan related that the captives were marched ten miles into the hills and there classified by the bandit chieftain according to their probable worth.

After the classification it was decided that foreigners would be held for ransome of $50,000 each, the Chinese of the first class for $30,000, those of the second class for $10,000 and those held to be of lower value for $2,000.

Flee to Hills

The Chinese newspaper Shun Pao, published in Shanghi, reported that Kang Tung Yu, its Sunday publisher, was captured and released. The bandits are said to be splitting into groups with their captives and scattering into the hills twenty miles from the railroad.

A regiment of Kiangsu provincial troops have been sent from Nanking.

Ex-Students Make Escape

Madison, Wis., May 8—Lloyd Lehrbas, mentioned in dispatches from Pekin, China as one of the thirty white prisoners captured by Chinese bandits, was a former student at the University of Wisconsin, where he was enrolled in the course of journalism from 1915 to 1917.

He is reported to have escaped from his captors after traveling under guard for three hours, clad only in his pajamas.

War Explosive Available for Clearing Farm Lands

County Agricultural Agent R. A. Peterson is at Vesper today supervising the distribution of a carload of picric acid for land clearing purposes which recently arived here. Farmers living in the Vesper region are urged to secure their supplies of this final shipment of surplus war explosive as promptly as possible, as it is desired to close out the shipment immediately.

The explosive is sold by the government at cost, and blasting caps are furnished free, making picric acid the cheapest land clearing material available.

SENATOR WITH HORSE SENSE

The Tribune is carrying a series of articles by O. D. Brandenburg of Madison, former editor of the Madison Democrat, a publication which was merged with the State Journal. Mr. Brandenburg is a free lance now as he has no editorial connections save a voluntary service to the state press which the Tribune is now using. Those who have not read the "Sidelights on the Legislature" are missing an opportunity to learn interesting information from an impartial and thoroughly versed observer at the Capitol.

Among several communications from Mr. Brandenburg was an interesting description of Senator W. L. Smith of Neilsville, who represents this county in the Senate. Mr. Brandenburg holds Sen. Smith in the highest regard both as a man and as a senator, saying that he is truly a worthy representative of the people, a man unafraid to take a stand for the things he feels in his own heart are right and just, a man, whose conservative nature has not made him a reactionary and one who does not let an over zealous group of legislators stampede him into actions that are not sane and sensible.

We are glad to reflect Mr. Brandenburg's sentiments because we know Senator Smith as a man of high character, honest intentions, unquestionable integrity and splendid loyalty to his constituents, which combined with his abundance of plain "horse sense" makes him a desirable representative of all the people.

WHY WOOD COUNTY LEADS

Why does Wood county, as shown by records published in another column of this paper, lead all of its immediate neighbors in the number of dairy cattle shipped to buyers outside of Wisconsin?

The adjoining counties, without exception, are larger in area and two of them at least are possibly better adapted in their natural resources to dairying, but still Wood county leads them all by a wide margin.

The answer, as we see it, is that Wood county is blessed with an unusual number of progressive dairy farmers who realize that high quality stock means not only profitable milk production but a ready market for surplus animals. These men, organized in live and active breed associations and test associations, cooperating with the county agent and other forces working for better agriculture, have given Wood county her position of leadership and are daily making her position more secure.

Buyers who come from a distance of a thousand miles or more are not looking for bargains in the shape of animals of doubtful value at low prices. They are looking for individuals that will build up the quality of their own herds or will form a suitable foundation for new herds and they are willing to pay a good round price when they find what they want. A county where pure bred bulls are at the head of most of the herds, where there are many pure bred herds, and where test association records give an index to the productivity of each individual, is obviously a desirable field for such buyers.

Carload of Reos Arrives; Present Attractive Line

George Forrand, Wisconsin Rapids agent for the Reo Motor Co., on Wednesday received a car load of Reo cars for distribution in Wisconsin Rapids and vicinity. The cars all present a very aristocratic appearance.

The Reo Brougham finished in gray and coming fully equipped with bumpers, automatic windshield wiper, disc wheels and all latest appliances has previously made its appearance in the city. Like all Reo cars it has the one sized chassis.

Attractive Model

The large combination five and seven passenger car, finished in a deep blue with light blue pencil stripes is truely a work of art and in other cities has proven to be a leading seller in the open car line. Although not a regulation sized seven passenger car it is a very roomy five passenger type and is equipped with two auxiliary seats for use in case of emergency. It lacks just six inches of being the same size as well known seven passenger models.

Roomy Front Seat

A feature of this car is the roomy front seat where the elimination of the hand emergency brake leaves room to spare. The emergency brake in this model is located where the regular foot brake in other models appears while the regular foot brake is applied by pushing the clutch down. To shift gears the clutch is only slipped about half way. A Yale lock, which locks the gears ensures against theft.

Other models received in the car load also present an attractive appearance and will appear on the streets soon. The Wisconsin Rapids agency is under jurisdiction of the Eau Claire agency, which handles sales in north west Wisconsin. Guy Wood and Harry Rablin, both formerly of this city, are interested in the Eau Claire concern.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE LEGISLATURE

By O. D. BRANDENBERG

Madison, Wis.—An evil precedent has been established of voting compensation to persons injured while in prison. One bill of this nature has gone through both houses. George Grant, who mangled a hand in a meat-grinder at Waupun, is awarded some $2,000 or $3,000; another fellow, injured at the Green Bay reformatory, boldly asks for $5,000 and will receive perhaps half that sum, and one or two similar measures are in the legislative mill somewhere.

Solons sometimes are unduly idealistic—or would we not better call it emotional? Even John Johnson of Madison, who served a decade in the penitentiary, now demands $5,000, yet he was sent to prison after he had deliberately confessed to murdering the little Lemberger girl. The judge was powerless. He had to sentence him to life imprisonment. Johnson was adjured not to plead guilty, but to stand trial. He emphatically refused. He declined to be dissuaded; yet, as soon as safely on his way to Waupun, he repudiated the confession, declaring he admitted guilt only because he feared mob violence! Here's a case where the claimant actually forced himself behind prison bars, yet now asks $5,000 because he was put there. Can you beat it? And he stands a fair chance indeed of being rewarded out of the state treasury. Perhaps no man should be punished on general principles, yet Johnson had tried to wreck a train, and presumably a motor, had served both in prison and in a lunatic asylum prior to the Lemberger tragedy. Certainly his conduct never could justly entitle him to receive a single copper from the public which he has cost dear by a steadfast life of crime and indolence.

Ban on Foreign Tongues

Assemblyman Mathew Koenigs, Fond du Lac farmer, believes in the English language, this fact being exemplified by a bill which elides from the existing law providing that all instruction in public schools shall be in English, the words "except that the district board or the board of education may, in its discretion, cause any foreign language to be taught by a competent teacher to such pupils as desire it, not to exceed one hour each day." A new subsection is added to this effect: "The courses of study in elementary, high, training, normal or other schools, maintained by the state or any political subdivision thereof except the university, shall not include any modern or ancient or foreign language and the teaching of any such language in any such schools other than in the university is prohibited."

Signboards Must Go

Good work! Billboards and other commercial disfigurements in improved highways are doomed if bill number 374s passes. It provides that after the selection of a trunk system, the state highway commission must cause the various lines of highway comprising the system, including connecting streets in cities and villages, to be marked with some standard design which "shall be the sole official state marker for the trunk system," and no other shall be placed within the boundary limits of that system unless it has been first approved by the commission. This design is to be uniform on all parts of the system. On or before January 1, 1924, the commission must cause to be removed from the boundary limits of trunk highways "every poster, advertisement, notice, sale bill, billboard and marker, except said official design and marker and except such other marker as has been approved by the commission." This work is to be paid for out of state highway funds.

Carload of Reos Arrives; Present Attractive Line

George Forrand, Wisconsin Rapids agent for the Reo Motor Co., on Wednesday received a car load of Reo cars for distribution in Wisconsin Rapids and vicinity. The cars all present a very aristocratic appearance.

The Reo Brougham finished in gray and coming fully equipped with bumpers, automatic windshield wiper, disc wheels and all latest appliances has previously made its appearance in the city. Like all Reo cars it has the one sized chassis.

Attractive Model

The large combination five and seven passenger car, finished in a deep blue with light blue pencil stripes is truely a work of art and in other cities has proven to be a leading seller in the open car line. Although not a regulation sized seven passenger car it is a very roomy five passenger type and is equipped with two auxiliary seats for use in case of emergency. It lacks just six inches of being the same size as well known seven passenger models.

Roomy Front Seat

A feature of this car is the roomy front seat where the elimination of the hand emergency brake leaves room to spare. The emergency brake in this model is located where the regular foot brake in other models appears while the regular foot brake is applied by pushing the clutch down. To shift gears the clutch is only slipped about half way. A Yale lock, which locks the gears ensures against theft.

Other models received in the car load also present an attractive appearance and will appear on the streets soon. The Wisconsin Rapids agency is under jurisdiction of the Eau Claire agency, which handles sales in north west Wisconsin. Guy Wood and Harry Rablin, both formerly of this city, are interested in the Eau Claire concern.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE LEGISLATURE

By O. D. BRANDENBERG

Madison, Wis.—An evil precedent has been established of voting compensation to persons injured while in prison. One bill of this nature has gone through both houses. George Grant, who mangled a hand in a meat-grinder at Waupun, is awarded some $2,000 or $3,000; another fellow, injured at the Green Bay reformatory, boldly asks for $5,000 and will receive perhaps half that sum, and one or two similar measures are in the legislative mill somewhere.

Solons sometimes are unduly idealistic,—or would we not better call it emotional? Even John Johnson of Madison, who served a decade in the penitentiary, now demands $5,000, yet he was sent to prison after he had deliberately confessed to murdering the little Lemberger girl. The judge was powerless. He had to sentence him to life imprisonment. Johnson was adjured not to plead guilty, but to stand trial. He emphatically refused. He declined to be dissuaded; yet, as soon as safely on his way to Waupun, he repudiated the confession, declaring he admitted guilt only because he feared mob violence! Here's a case where the claimant actually forced himself behind prison bars, yet now asks $5,000 because he was put there. Can you beat it? And he stands a fair chance indeed of being rewarded out of the state treasury. Perhaps no man should be punished on general principles, yet Johnson had tried to wreck a train, and presumably a moron, had served both in prison and in a lunatic asylum prior to the Lemberger tragedy. Certainly his conduct never could justly entitle him to receive a single copper from the public which he has cost dear by a steadfast life of crime and indolence.

Ban on Foreign Tongues

Assemblyman Mathew Koenigs, Fond du Lac farmer, believes in the English language, this fact being exemplified by a bill which elides from the existing law providing that all instruction in public schools shall be in English, the words "except that the district board or the board of education may, in its discretion, cause any foreign language to be taught by a competent teacher to such pupils as desire it, not to exceed one hour each day." A new subsection is added to this effect: "The courses of study in elementary, high, training, normal or other schools, maintained by the state or any political subdivision thereof except the university, shall not include any modern or ancient or foreign language and the teaching of any such language in any such schools other than in the university is prohibited."

Signboards Must Go

Good work! Billboards and other commercial disfigurements in improved highways are doomed if bill number 374s passes. It provides that after the selection of a trunk system, the state highway commission must cause the various lines of highway comprising the system, including connecting streets in cities and villages, to be marked with some standard design which "shall be the sole official state marker for the trunk system," and no other shall be placed within the boundary limits of that system unless it has been first approved by the commission. This design is to be uniform on all parts of the system. On or before January 1, 1924, the commission must cause to be removed from the boundary limits of trunk highways "every poster, advertisement, notice, sale bill, billboard and marker, except said official design and marker and except such other marker as has been approved by the commission." This work is to be paid for out of state highway funds.

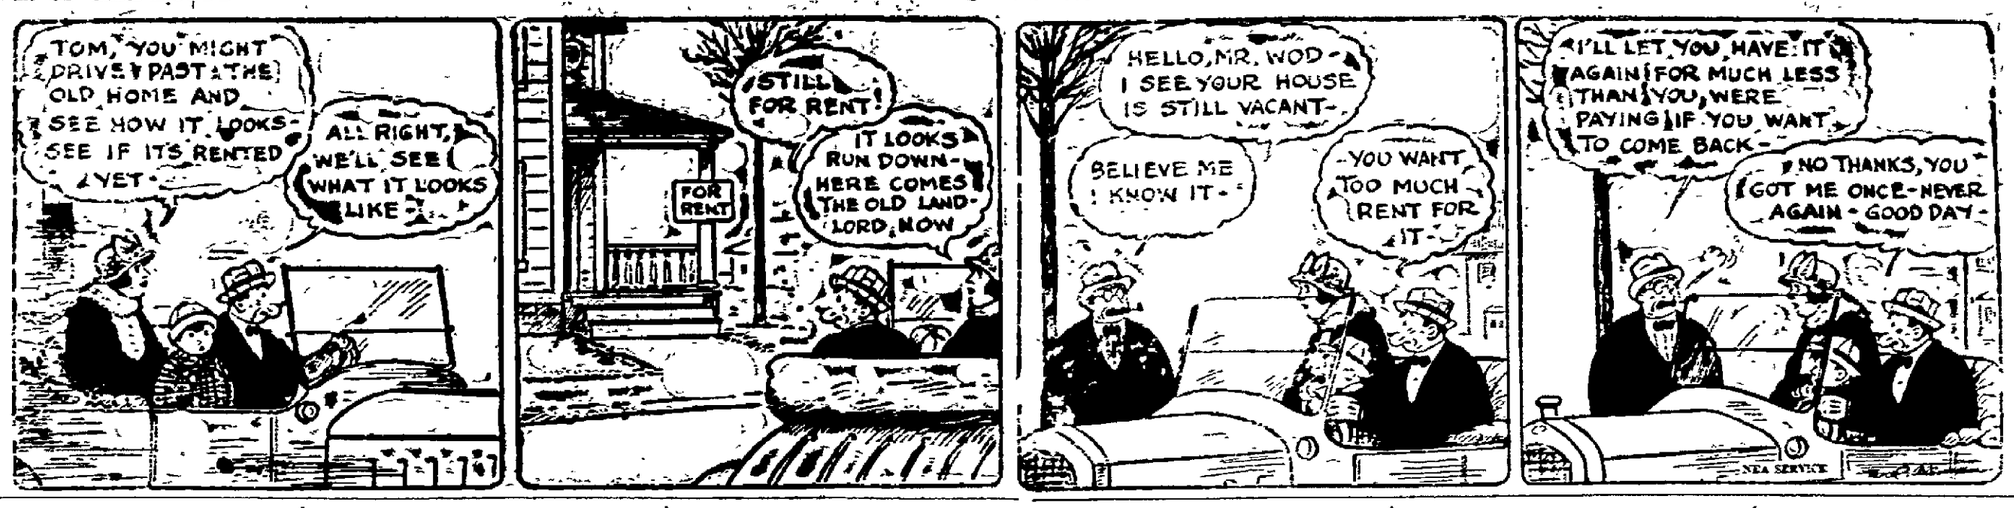
DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Revenge Is Sweet



Roster of Civil War Vets Given to Historical Club

Bradford, Pa.—Because only eight of the Civil War Veterans who made up Encampment No. 7, Union Veteran Legion, are still living, and only three of this number are able to leave their homes, the roster has presented to the McKean County Historical Society for preservation. The encampment has not been able to hold a meeting for over a year.

The encampment was made up of veterans who flocked to Bradford with the discovery of oil in this region soon after the clos of the war. They represented more than 100 regiments, and most of them had been wounded in action. New York contributed 41, Pennsylvania 39, Ohio 12, Wisconsin five, Massachusetts and Vermont three each, Illinois and Connecticut two each, and Indiana, Kansas Missouri and Michigan one each. They played an important part in the oil development of the region and to this day the remaining members are numbered among the most respected residents of the community.

Stevens Point to Enforce Arterial Highway Ordinance

Stevens Point—Enforcement of Stevens Point's arterial highway ordinance is now a matter of but a few days distant. All of the signs, purchased by the Chamber of Commerce, have arrived in the city and are being unloaded and assmebed. The work of placing them near intersections to Main street, Strongs avenue and North Second street, the three arterial highways, will be commenced within a day or two. As soon as the job has been completed the enforcement of the new ordinance will begin in earnest.

THE OLD HOME TOWN BY STANLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dick Acklin, the big boss of the Double A ranch, plots with Buck Bodine, new owner of the old Webster place, to rob the Basques of Paradise Valley of their water supply. Esteban, son of Jose Arrascada, riding with a party in an attack on the Double A, is wounded and carried to the home of Acklin. Jose, while searching for Esteban, is shot and killed from ambush. Bodine pursues Mercedes, the daughter of Jose.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

The horsemen Tuscarora had seen were swifter. Rounding a bend in the road old Peter drove right into them. With a distinct sense of alarm the girl recognized Bodine. The men with him were little calculated to restore her composure.

Bodine had no intention of letting them go. He know they were frightened, and he reveled in it.

He bent down confidentially.

"I lost my head a bit the last time I was at the hacienda. I was as blind as the kid here, I guess. And I'm sorry for what I said; though I ain't sorry I kissed you!"

He felt, rather than saw, Mercedes wince.

"I learnt somethin' that night, though. I'm a peaceable man from now on. I got an injunction yesterday morning in Winnemucca that'll keep anybody from touching that creek for thirty days. Seein' is believin'. I want to show it to you."

Mercedes' eyes snapped.

"You waste our time," she said defiantly. "I do not care what you have, or what you say, I know. I do not go with you."

"Oh yes, you will, Senorita," he smiled. "We ain't startin' no argument we can't finish. Now you turn that team around, old graybeard!" he bawled at Uncle Peter.

Blaze and Tuscarora crested the rise at that instant and rode rapidly down the draw. They saw the fractious, panicky team with the horsemen trying to turn them.

"Something stirring, all right," Kent called to Blaze. "Better take this gun. I got my rifle."

They were within a hundred yards of the rig before Bodine discovered them.

"What's the big excite?" Blaze demanded in steely tones.

Basilio had recognized Kildare. "I want to go home, Mr. Blaze!" he cried.

"It's home for you, little chief."

Mercedes bit her lip as she saw Kildare life the blind boy to his horse's back. Why did this man alternately hurt and befriend her? She became conscious of the gradual swing of his horse to a position protecting her from the sinister look of Bodine's companion. Tuscarora's carelessly held rifle did not escape her, nor did it escape the attention of Gloomy.

"Ain't you afraid that there gun might go off, you?"

"My name's Kent—and it might," the lover of peace drawled. It brought a laugh from Bodine.

"By the way," Joe went on, addressing the rancher, "don't you get to thinkin' we're licked because old Jose is gone. I aim to string along for quite some little while yet. I got a date to talk to the law right now."

"You're slow!" Bodine grinned nastily. "I had my talk with the law yesterday. There won't anybody touch that creek for thirty days at least. I'll see that my injunction is renewed, too."

Kent concealed his chargin with a cackling laugh. But Bodine knew he had given his foe a jolt.

"Let's hit dirt," he shouted to his men. He waved his hand at them airily as he and his followers pulled away.

Tuscarora shook his head. "He sure put one over on the old man that time," he murmured. "That's what he wanted to show you, eh—that injunction? Brand is waiting for me down at the hotel. I'll burn it back to town. You go along to the Rancho."

Basilio hugged Blaze tightly as Kent uttered this dictum.

Peter pulled up his horses at the patio gate.

Basilio waved his tiny hand as Blaze walked My Man down past the corrals. Mariano, the mozo, lounged against the barn. He took off his hat to Kildare.

"Bad times, these, for the Buena Vista," Blaze said to him.

"Madre de Dios, but yes!"

"What would you do, if the 'devil-men' came?" Blaze asked apprehensively.

"At night the gate ees shut, Senor. I sleep outside the Senorita's door."

"Good! Here is a little present for you, Mariano." Kildare took the six-gun Tuscarora had lent him from his holster, and handed it to the old man. The servant's dark eyes fairly glistened. He had long since despaired of ever rising to the dignity of possessing a gun of his own.

CHAPTER XVIII

Master and Cow-Puncher

A broad grin spread over the face of the Big Boss when Kildare told him of Bodine's injunction. Kildare wondered just what amused him so much.

Morrow hailed Blaze as he came out. Tomorrow was the Fourth of July.

"Suppose you're goin' down to Golconda with the boys," he grumbled. Cash's tone showed plainly enough his lack of pleasure in the coming day.

Kildare shook his head. A dance, in his present frame of mind, held no lure for him.

By supper-time the specter of Bodine had become so menacing that Blaze decided to ride down to the Rancho. He waited until the boys had left and then silently followed them.

Dawn had found him lying sleepy-eyed on the little mesa that rose back of the hacienda. He had had his vigil for nothing. It was after seven when he rode by the Rancho.

He saw a table set with white napery, thin glasses, heavy silver, and delicate, cream-colored porcelain. Daintiness, cleanliness, ancestry all spoke there.

My Man whinnied. Basilio heard him and jumped down from the wide portico.

"I know you be here today, Mr. Blaze," he called as he ran toward Kildare. "I tell Mercedes you come this morning."

Mercedes came out of the house at that moment. Blaze greeted her with a cheery "Good morning."

"Why you sleep out there all night?" she asked at last, not ungently.

Basilio gave him his answer.

"I hear My Man single-foot along the road last night. He stopped by the fence. I told you so, didn't I?"

"Ain't no use lying about it," Blaze said rather shamefacedly. "I figured Bodine might try to pay you a visit. I knew you were all alone here." He stopped momentarily. "Didn't see anything of him, though."

Mariano came out with the coffee. Mercedes turned to him.

"Serve the Senor at once, Mariano," she ordered. "He has a long way to go."

The old mozo hastened to her side.

"Senor Kildare thanks you for caring for his revolver," she began. "He wishes you to return it."

The old man lifted a mournful face to hers as he pulled the revolver from his pocket.

He put the gun on the table.

Basilio had caught the seriousness of the conversation. It kept him silent, though several times he tugged at his sister's skirts as if to catch her attention. Mercedes was so engrossed she paid no heed to the boy until Acklin rode into the patio.

"I wanted to tell you some one was coming," the sensitive child whispered in the natural lull of surprise, following the appearance of the Big Boss of the Double A.

Mercedes flashed a quick glance from Acklin to Blaze, who held his position near the table. His face was emotionless. Had he known the rancher was coming? Only by the slightest inclination of her head did she acknowledge the cattle-man's greeting.

"Sorry I couldn't get down to your father's funeral," he said.

The lie did not pass Mercedes.

"Your man do very well in your place," she answered.

Acklin looked from Blaze to her, and back again. The little by-play that her words carred was beyond him.

"Better drift to the Bull's Head," he said to Blaze.

It was lightly purred, but carried with it the dismissal of the man on the veranda.

Acklin followed him to where My Man stood. Kildare's stock had taken a decided drop in his mental ledger.

"What kept you down here?" he asked, when they were out of hearing of the girl on the veranda.

Kildare's imagination was equal to the occasion.

"The boys were seen when they went out," he drawled. "I ran into Bodine and six or seven of his men. He didn't have a good excuse for being where he was, so I hung around to keep my eye on him." Blaze jabbed his thumb in the direction of Mercedes. "I didn't tell her."

Acklin began to readjust his notes again, as far as Kildare was concerned.

Acklin was sipping the coffee that had been set out for his hired hand, as Blaze looked back in answer to Basilio's call.

"Sit down, Mercedes," Acklin suggested quietly after he had watched her for a few seconds. "I want to talk to you."

The rancher fell back before the fire in her eyes.

"What the devil—," he began, as he got up; but he did not finish his sentence. He was alone. Mercedes had caught up Basilio and entered the house.

He tried the door. It was locked.

So Acklin followed his hired man back to the Bull's Head. Their departing moods permitted of no choice. The eagles had scratched them both.

CHAPTER XIX

Melody Finds a Charm

The Big Boss had his saw in hand, and if Bodine could have see the unholy glee with which the cattle-man looked forward to dropping him into space, he would have lost some of his offensive swagger.

Morrow rode up to the Bull's Head about three o'clock in a fine frenzy. He slid from his horse and hammered on the office door.

Honor for League Is Now Claimed by British Officers

London, — The latest attempt to take glory from men credited with high honors is that of a British Yeomanry officer. Lieut.-Colonel Frank Hilder, who declares he formulated the plan of the League of Nations long before the idea was thought of by Woodrow Wilson.

He says he published a book called "A Senate of Civilization," at his own expense which contained the plan for the League of Nations, and which he circulated to all heads of governments of the world.

Colonel Hilder, who is a member of Parliament, admits he got the orignal idea from the Roman Catholic League of Nations which existed centuries age.

Mesopotamia Gives Dates

Alexandria, Egypt.—The dates eat United States come mostly from Mesopotamia. They mature during the summer months, and their cultivation is an important industry.

Date palm trees grow on the shores of the river Chatt-el-Arab, from Faou on the Persian Gulf up to Kourna, an expanse of about 123,000 acres.

Date trees must be abundantly watered, especially during the dry summer months. For this purpose cultivators dig ditches in the fields which are supplied with water from the river.

The picking of dates generally October, and shipments are made from the port of Bassorah.

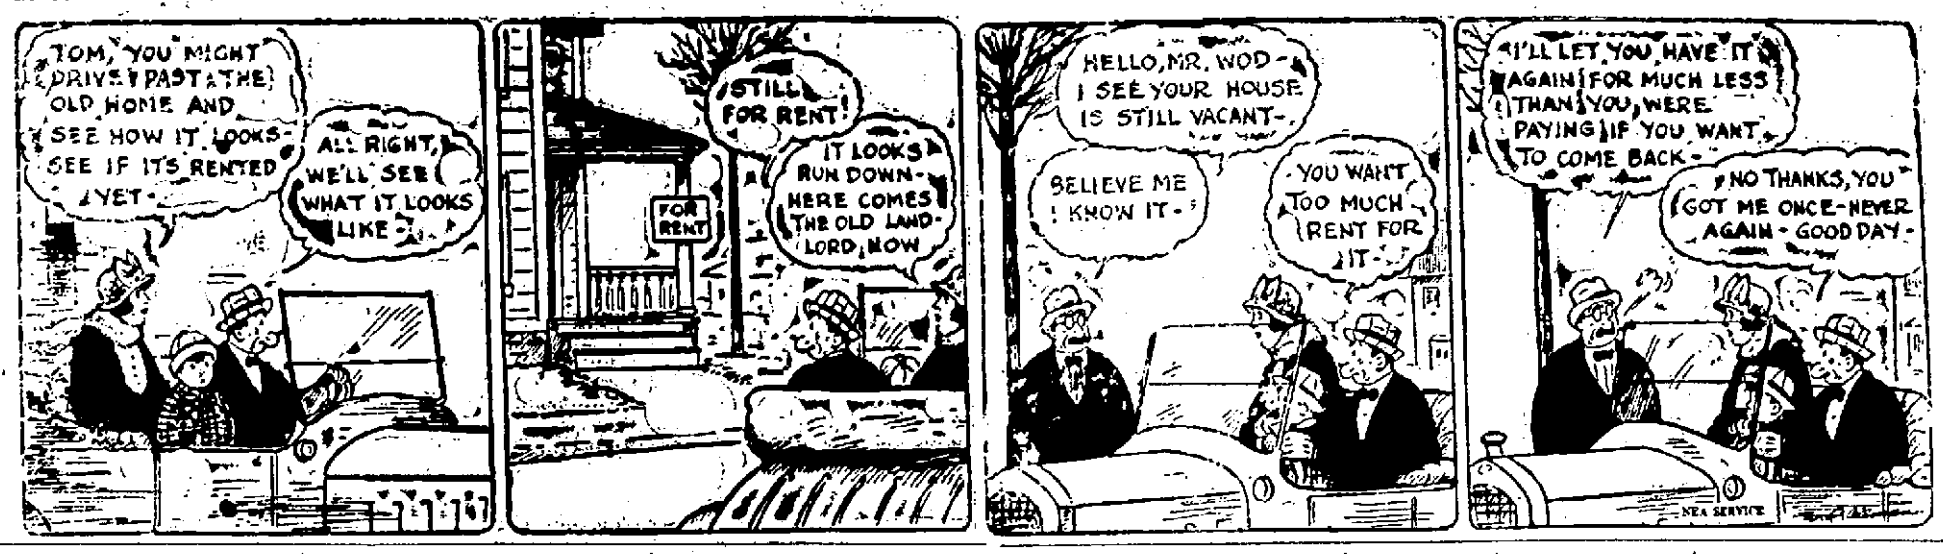
DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Revenge Is Sweet



Roster of Civil War Vets Given to Historical Club

Bradford, Pa.—Because only eight of the Civil War Veterans who made up Encampment No.7, Union Veteran Legion, are still living, and only three of this number are able to leave their homes, the roster has presented to the McKean County Historical Society for preservation. The encampment has not been able to hold a meeting for over a year.

The encampment was made up of veterans who flocked to Bradford with the discovery of oil in this region soon after the clos of the war. They represented more than 100 regiments, and most of them had been wounded in action. New York contributed 41, Pennsylvania 39, Ohio 12, Wisconsin five, Massachusetts and Vermont three each, Illinois and Connecticut two each, and Indiana, Kansas Missouri and Michigan one each They played an important part in the oil development of the region and to this day the remaining members are numbered among the most respected residents of the community.

Stevens Point to Enforce Arterial Highway Ordinance

All of the signs, purchased by the Chamber of Commerce, have arrived in the city and are being unloaded and assmebed. The work of placing them near intersections to Main street, Strongs avenue and North Second street, the three arterial highways, will be commenced within a day or two. As soon as the job has been completed the enforcement of the new ordinance will begin in earnest.

THE OLD HOME TOWN BY STANLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dick Acklin, the big boss of the Double A ranch, plots with Buck Bodine, new owner of the old Webster place, to rob the Basques of Paradise Valley of their water supply. Esteban, son of Jose Arrasceada, riding with a party in an attack on the Double A, is wounded and carried to the home of Acklin. Jose, while searching for Esteban, is shot and killed from ambush. Bodine pursues Mercedes, the daughter of Jose.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

The horsemen Tuscarora had seen were swifter. Rounding a bend in the road old Peter drove right into them. With a distinct sense of alarm the girl recognized Bodine. The men with him were little calculated to restore her composure.

Bodine had no intention of letting them go. He know they were frightened, and he reveled in it.

He bent down confidentially.

"I lost my head a bit the last time I was at the hacienda. I was as blind as the kid here, I guess. And I'm sorry for what I said; though I ain't sorry I kissed you!"

He felt, rather than saw, Mercedes wince.

"I learnt somethin' that night, though. I'm a peaceable man from now on. I got an injunction yesterday morning in Winnemucca that'll keep anybody from touching that creek for thirty days. Seein' is believin.' I want to show it to you."

Mercedes' eyes snapped.

"You waste our time," she said defiantly. "I do not care what you have, or what you say, I know, I do not go with you."

"Oh yes, you will, Senorita," he smiled. "We ain't startin' no argument we can't finish. Now you turn that team around, old grayheard!" he bawled at Uncle Peter.

Blaze and Tuscarora crested the rise at that instant and rode rapidly down the draw. They saw the fractious, panicky team with the horsemen trying to turn them.

"Something stirring, all right," Kent called to Blaze. "Better take this gun. I got my rifle."

They were within a hundred yards of the rig before Bodine discovered them.

"What's the big excite?" Blaze demanded in steely tones.

Basilio had recognized Kildare. "I want to go home, Mr. Blaze!" he cried.

"It's home for you, little chief."

Mercedes bit her lip as she saw Kildare life the blind boy to his horse's back. Why did this man alternately hurt and befriend her? She became conscious of the gradual swing of his horse to a position protecting her from the sinister look of Bodine's companion. Tuscarora's carelessly held rifle did not escape her, nor did it escape the attention of Gloomy.

"Ain't you afraid that there gun might go off, you?"

"My name's Kent—and it might," the lover of peace drawled. It brought a laugh from Bodine.

"By the way," Joe went on, addressing the rancher, "don't you get to thinkin' we're licked because old Jose is gone. I aim to string along for quite some little while yet. I got a date to talk to the law right now."

"You're slow!" Bodine grinned nastily. "I had my talk with the law yesterday. There won't anybody touch that creek for thirty days at least. I'll see that my injunction is renewed, too."

Kent concealed his chargin with a cackling laugh. But Bodine knew he had given his foe a jolt.

"Let's hit dirt," he shouted to his men. He waved his hand at them airily as he and his followers pulled away.

Tuscarora shook his head. "He sure put one over on the old man that time," he murmured. "That's what he wanted to show you, eh—that injunction? Brand is waiting for me down at the hotel. I'll burn it back to town. You go along to the Rancho."

Basilio hugged Blaze tightly as Kent uttered this dictum.

Peter pulled up his horses at the patio gate.

Basilio waved his tiny hand as Blaze walked My Man down past the corrals, Mariano, the mozo, lounged against the barn. He took off his hat to Kildare.

"Bad times, these, for the Buena Vista," Blaze said to him.

"Madre de Dios, but yes!"

"What would you do, if the 'devil-men' came?" Blaze asked apprehensively.

"At night the gate ees shut, Senor. I sleep outside the Senorita's door."

"Good! Here is a little present for you, Mariano." Kildare took the six-gun Tuscarora had lent him from his holster, and handed it to the old man. The servant's dark eyes fairly glistened. He had long since despaired of ever rising to the dignity of possessing a gun of his own.

CHAPTER XVIII

Master and Cow-Puncher

A broad grin spread over the face of the Big Boss when Kildare told him of Bodine's injunction. Kildare wondered just what amused him so much.

Morrow hailed Blaze as he came out. Tomorrow was the Fourth of July.

"Suppose you're goin' down to Golconda with the boys," he grumbled. Cash's tone showed plainly enough his lack of pleasure in the coming day.

Kildare shook his head. A dance, in his present frame of mind, held no lure for him.

By supper-time the specter of Bodine had become so menacing that Blaze decided to ride down to the Rancho. He waited until the boys had left and then silently followed them.

Dawn had found him lying sleepy-eyed on the little mesa that rose back of the hacienda. He had had his vigil for nothing. It was after seven when he rode by the Rancho.

He saw a table set with white napery, thin glasses, heavy silver, and delicate, cream-colored porcelain. Daintiness, cleanliness, ancestry all spoke there.

My Man whinnied. Basilio heard him and jumped down from the wide portico.

"I know you be here today, Mr. Blaze," he called as he ran toward Kildare. "I tell Mercedes you come this morning."

Mercedes came out of the house at that moment. Blaze greeted her with a cheery "Good morning."

"Why you sleep out there all night?" she asked at last, not ungently.

Basilio gave him his answer.

"I hear My Man single-foot along the road last night. He stopped by the fence. I told you so, didn't I?"

"Ain't no use lying about it," Blaze said rather shamefacedly. "I figured Bodine might try to pay you a visit. I knew you were all alone here." He stopped momentarily. "Didn't see anything of him, though."

Mariano came out with the coffee. Mercedes turned to him.

"Serve the Senor at once, Mariano," she ordered. "He has a long way to go."

The old mozo hastened to her side.

"Senor Kildare thanks you for caring for his revolver," she began. "He wishes you to return it."

The old man lifted a mournful face to hers as he pulled the revolver from his pocket.

He put the gun on the table.

Basilio had caught the seriousness of the conversation. It kept him silent, though several times he tugged at his sister's skirts as if to catch her attention. Mercedes was so engrossed she paid no heed to the boy until Acklin rode into the patio.

"I wanted to tell you some one was coming," the sensitive child whispered in the natural lull of surprise, following the appearance of the Big Boss of the Double A.

Mercedes flashed a quick glance from Acklin to Blaze, who held his position near the table. His face was emotionless. Had he known the rancher was coming? Only by the slightest inclination of her head did she acknowledge the cattle-man's greeting.

"Sorry I couldn't get down to your father's funeral," he said.

The lie did not pass Mercedes.

"Your man do very well in your place," she answered.

Acklin looked from Blaze to her, and back again. The little by-play that her words carred was beyond him.

"Better drift to the Bull's Head," he said to Blaze.

It was lightly purred, but carried with it the dismissal of the man on the veranda.

Acklin followed him to where My Man stood. Kildare's stock had taken a decided drop in his mental ledger.

"What kept you down here?" he asked, when they were out of hearing of the girl on the veranda.

Kildare's imagination was equal to the occasion.

"The boys were seen when they went out," he drawled. "I ran into Bodine and six or seven of his men. He didn't have a good excuse for being where he was, so I hung around to keep my eye on him." Blaze jabbed his thumb in the direction of Mercedes. "I didn't tell her."

Acklin began to readjust his notes again, as far as Kildare was concerned.

Acklin was sipping the coffee that had been set out for his hired hand, as Blaze looked back in answer to Basilio's call.

"Sit down, Mercedes," Acklin suggested quietly after he had watched her for a few seconds. "I want to talk to you."

The rancher fell back before the fire in her eyes.

"What the devil—," he began, as he got up; but he did not finish his sentence. He was alone. Mercedes had caught up Basilio and entered the house.

He tried the door. It was locked.

So Acklin followed his hired man back to the Bull's Head. Their departing moods permitted of no choice. The eaglet had scratched them both.

CHAPTER XIX

Melody Finds a Charm

The Big Boss had his saw in hand, and if Bodine could have see the unholy glee with which the cattle-man looked forward to dropping him into space, he would have lost some of his offensive swagger.

Morrow rode up to the Bull's Head about three o'clock in a fine frenzy. He slid from his horse and hammered on the office door.

Honor for League Is Now Claimed by British Officers

London, — The latest attempt to take glory from men credited with high honors is that of a British Yeomanry officer, Lieut.-Colonel Frank Hilder, who declares he formulated the plan of the League of Nations long before the idea was thought of by Woodrow Wilson.

He says he published a book called "A Senate of Civilization," at his own expense which contained the plan for the League of Nations, and which he circulated to all heads of governments of the world.

Colonel Hilder, who is a member of Parliament, admits he got the orignal idea from the Roman Catholic League of Nations which existed centuries ago.

Mesopotamia Gives Dates

Alexandria, Egypt.—The dates eat United States come mostly from Mesopotamia. They mature during the summer months, and their cultivation is an important industry.

Date palm trees grow on the shores of the river Chatt-el-Arab, from Faou on the Persian Gulf up to Kourna, an expanse of about 138,000 acres.

Date trees must be abundantly watered, especially during the dry summer months. For this purpose cultivators dig ditches in the fields which are supplied with water from the river.

FINAL DECISION ON HIGHWAY 66 EXPECTED SOON

HEARING WILL BE HELD AT STEVENS POINT SATURDAY; GRAVEL OR NOTHING IS CHOICE OFFERED

Saturday May 12, has been set as the date when the Wisconsin Highway Commission will grant a hearing to representatives of the towns of Plover and Grant and the village of Plover in regard to the proposed graveling of highway 66 between the Wood county line and the village of Meehan in Portage county. Representatives of the towns and the village of Plover are against the proposed graveling and claim that if any money is expended on the road, concrete should be installed.

Have Money for Gravel

According to F. F. Mengel, division engineer, the attitude of the state in regard to the improvements on 66 is that gravel will have to be accepted or the road will go without improvement this year and in all probability for many years to come. The state has already appropriated its share of the money for graveling this road and if the authorities in the towns involved do not accede to the wish of the state, the money appropriated by the state will probably be tacked onto the appropriation recently awarded Portage county for the building of five miles of concrete on state road 10 north of Stevens Point and 66 will go without an improvement of any sort.

The state's attitude in regard to the matter is that Portage county will not vote to float a bond issue and that is the state has to build the roads it will build them as it seems best and put the money where it is felt the greater amount of good may be obtained.

Representatives of the state further claim that the proposed graveling would be of the highest type and would be better able to stand the test of heavy traffic than the graveling already installed on the same road east of Meehan.

Receive Bids on Highway 12

Bids on the proposed graveling of highway 12 between Mauston and Kilbourn will be received here Thursday May 10, by the Wisconsin highway commission. Approximately 18 mile will be graveled if the bids are accepted.

There is little prospect of any great improvement being made on highway 13 unless Adams county votes to appropriate money to help finance any changes. The road it is claimed is in fairly good shape and with the graveling and claying that has already been accomolished a fair rate of speed may be maintained between this city and Kilbourn.

A petition to pave 73 between this city and Rudolph, which was presented at Madison, has no chance of being carried out within a year or two it was stated, but the pavements will be linked up within the next few years.

By the end of the present year a concrete road from Nekoosa to Marshfield via Wisconsin Rapids, Seneca Corners, Vesper, Arpin and Auburndale will be completed as will also the pavement from Marshfield to Wisconsin Rapids, via Pittsville and Seneca Corners. With this pavement local autoists will be able to make a drive of approximately seventy miles on concrete, and with the exception of the drive between here and Seneca Corners, not go over the same ground twice.

Police Will Open Drive on Violators of Traffic Laws

CARELESS AND LAWLESS MOTORISTS AND CYCLISTS WARNED THAT REGULATIONS WILL BE ENFORCED

Wisconsin Rapids motorists and others who have been in the habit of taking lightly the regulations designed for the protection of the public in the use of the streets are warned by Chief of Police R. S. Payne in a statement today that they must mend their ways or be brought before the bar of justice.

Absence of 1923 license plates, driving with cut-out open, fast and reckless driving and failure to observe parking regulations are the most common violations of traffic laws by the automobile drivers of the city, according to the chief, who said also, however, that among the worst offenders were boys who ride bicycles around the city streets after dark without lights.

Warnings Don't Work

In the past it has been the practise of the local police to rely chiefly upon warnings to keep offenders against the traffic laws in the paths of safety and righteousness, but this method is apparently failing to produce the needed results and sterner means are to be inaugurated.

The menace of the lightless bicycle is one of the most serious problems confronting the officers, according to Chief Payne, who is making a special plea to the parents of boy owners of bicycles to see that they are equipped with lights if used at night. The visibility of a lightless bicycle on a dark street is practically zero, while the uncertain course followed by this particular type of vehicle also contributes to the danger of serious accident.

Favors Arterial Stops

The possibility of the further regulation of traffic on the principle downtown streets of the city is being considered, according to the chief, who expressed himself in favor of the arterial highway system already instituted in a number of larger cities.

"All vehicles coming west on Oak street shouldr be required to come to a full stop before entering Second street," the chief said. "There are other intersections where a similar rule might prove desirable, but that is our worst corner from the traffic view-point, and regulation of some sort is essential.

"It would help materially at corners where traffic officers are stationed if drivers would indicate which way they desire to turn," the chief said.

ALONG PLOVER ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Heine and children of Stevens Point, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heine and children and Grandma Heine of Almond attended the Young-Buss wedding last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walter and son, Willie, and daughters, Tillie and Mrs. Ervin Moll, attende dthe funeral of a relative at Stevens Point Thursday.

Florence Tyler, left Thursday for Pekin, Ill., where she wil lbe employed for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Moll and baby were callers in this neighborhood Sunday afternoon.

Will Give Benefit

A benefit showing of Zane Grey's "The Mysterious Rider" will be given at the Port Edwards Auditorium tomorrow evening. The proceeds will be devoted to financing the Free Chest Clinic to be held next fall and to relief work in the community. The benefit is under the auspices of the Welfare Committee of the Parent—Teacher association.

Police Will Open Drive on Violators of Traffic Laws

CARELESS AND LAWLESS MOTORISTS AND CYCLISTS WARNED THAT REGULATIONS WILL BE ENFORCED

Wisconsin Rapids motorists and others who have been in the habit of taking lightly the regulations designed for the protection of the public in the use of the streets are warned by Chief of Police R. S. Payne in a statement today that they must mend their ways or be brought before the bar of justice.

Absence of 1923 license plates, driving with cut-out open, fast and reckless driving and failure to observe parking regulations are the most common violations of traffic laws by the automobile drivers of the city, according to the chief, who said also, however, that among the worst offenders were boys who ride bicycles around the city streets after dark without lights.

Warnings Don't Work

In the past it has been the practise of the local police to rely chiefly upon warnings to keep ofenders against the traffic laws in the paths of safety and righteousness, but this method is apparently failing to produce the needed results and sterner means are to be inaugurated.

The menace of the lightless bicycle is one of the most serious problems confronting the officers, according to Chief Payne, who is making a special plea to the parents of boy owners of bicycles to see that they are equipped with lights if used at night. The visibility of a lightless bicycle on a dark street is practically zero, while the uncertain course followed by this particular type of vehicle also contributes to the danger of serious accident.

Favors Arterial Stops

The possibility of the further regulation of traffic on the principle downtown streets of the city is being considered, according to the chief, who expressed himself in favor of the arterial highway system already instituted in a number of larger cities.

"All vehicles coming west on Oak street shouldr be required to come to a full stop before entering Second street," the chief said. "There are other intersections where a similar rule might prove desirable, but that is our worst corner from the traffic view-point, and regulation of some sort is essential.

"It would help materially at corners where traffic officers are stationed if drivers would indicate which way they desire to turn," the chief said.

DAUSS HALTS THE WINNING STREAK OF GLEASON'S SOX

VIT PITCHES STEADILY IN PINCHES; PIRATES MAUL CARDS; BENTLEY WINS HIS FIRST MAJOR LEAGUE GAME

(By Associated Press)

Chicago—Detroit bunched hits on Monday and defeated Chicago, 8 to 4 in the final game of the series. George Dauss kept Chicago's hits well scattered with the exception of two innings, and as a result won his fifth consecutive game. Home runs by Cobb and Hooper, the former's with two on and the latter's with one, and the fielding of McClellan and Jones were features.

Marred by Fight

Philadelphia—(A. P.)—New York made a clean sweep of the series with Philadelphia on Monday, winning the final game, 13 to 8.

Jack Bentley won his first game in the major leagues, striking out six of the locals and allowing thirteen well scattered hits. Mokan hit two home runs and Kelley and Cunningham made successive homers in the seventh on two pitched balls.

Stengel, left fielder of the Giants and Weinert pitcher of the Phillies were banished in the fourth inning after a lively exchange of blows. The trouble started after a ball thrown by Weinert came dangerously close to Stengel's head and the latter threw his bat at the local twirler.

Indians Win

Cleveland—(A. P.)—The Indians evened up the series with St. Louis on Monday, wining by a score of 12 to 3. Uhle was in good form holding the Browns to seven hits and also starred at the bat, making three hits including two doubles. Manager Speaker was still under suspension, Sumina played center and Brower right.

Pittsburgh—(A. P.)—Pittsburgh hammered four St. Louis pitchers for twenty hits and a total of twenty-eight bases and won Monday's game 11 to 4. The veteran Babe Adams was hit hard by the Cardinals at times, but tightened in the pinches. The Pirates left Monday night on their invasion of the east after having won all seven games played at home. First Baseman Grimm of the Pirates who slammed out three hits on Monday, one a triple, has hit safely in all twenty games this season.

Braves Walloped

Boston—(A. P.)—Thirty-five players took part in the ten inning game which Brooklyn won from Boston on Monday the latter team making eight errors and using six pitchers. At one time the visitors led 8 to 0. Lack of control made trouble for the Dodger pitchers.

Wausau Youth is Hit By Pitched Ball; Later Dies

Wausau, Wis.—Charles Swann fourteen years of age, Saturday afternoon was hit in the mouth by a pitched ball, rupturing a blood vessel a hemhorrage which resulted in death while on his way to Wausau Memorial hospital where his mother Mrs. Helen Swann is a nurse.

The accident happened during a ball game at Kelly park just south of the Northwestern railway viaduct on Grand avenue, shortly after three o'clock Saturday afternoon. Willie Hoppe was the pitcher and he was throwing balls to Charles Swann, the catcher, who wore no mask. Swann misjudged one of the thrown balls, which hit him in the mouth. He fell backward, blood gushing from his mouth.

Died In Car

His playmates carried him to the sidewalk, hailed the first northbound automobile, put the injured boy in it and went to the Wausau Memorial hospital. Upon arrival there it was found the boy was dead.

The body was taken to the J. Metz home, 427 Seymour street, where it will remain until the funeral services, which will be conducted at none o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Mary's church by the Rev. Father J. B. Hauck. Interment will follow in St. Joseph cemetery.

The deceased was born in Wausau on June 17, 1909. He lived at 520 Scott street with his mother and brother, Wilfred, who survive him. He was a student in the Eighth grade at St. Mary's school and also was a member of St. Mary's troop of the Boy Scouts of America.

Bob Gardner And Sweetser Losers in Amateur Meet

Deal, England—America's team of amateur golfing stars received a severe jolt in the opening round of the British amateur championship tournament here on Monday when it suffered the loss of two of its leading members.

Jess Sweetser, American amateur champion, was eliminated by E. Noel Layton of the Royal Cinque Ports club, 4 and 3, and Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, captain of the Walker Cup team and rated as one of the steadiest of the American campetitors, was 2 down at the finish to G. D. Forrester of Woking.

The American hopes now center on the proven mastery of Ouimet, who on Tuesday will meet Bernard Darwin, and to reach the semi-finals must work through the upper half of the draw in which are such players as Michael Scott, the French champion; Roger Wethered, Cyril Tolley and Tweedale.

Dr. Willing, if he defeats Robert Grant, Jr., on Tuesday, is likely to bump early into one of the Torrence brothers or one of the Scott brothers. Rotan on Tuesday will meet Leslie Schow, who vanquished Reginald Lewis on Monday, while Hunter will play K. F. Fradgley of the Royal North Devon club.

Deal, England—The British amateur golf championships started here Monday morning with a dozen Americans among the entrants.

British golf enthusiasts crossed their fingers, hoping that W. E. Holderness, present amateur title holder, Cyril Tolley, erstwhile champion, or Roger Wethered, would reach a form preventing repetition of the disastrous St. George challenge cup matches.

Francis Ouimet of Brookline, Mass.; Robert A. Gardner, captain of the American team; K. J. Wright of Los Angeles and Dr. O. P. Willing of Portland, Ore., are most feared among the American starters. Willing drew a bye in the first round and watched his comrades. There is a chance that Francis Ouimet and Cyril Tolley may cross clubs before the semi-final.

First pair got off from the starting tee at 9:30 a. m. Ouimet easily defeated A. H. Reed, 4 to 3. Roger Wethered had a harder time defeating E. R. Campbell one up.

BIG JESS MUST K. O. JOHNSON TO GET DEMPSEY TILT

WILLARD HAS WORKED FAITHFULLY TO GET IN CONDITION FOR BOUT ON MAY 12; HAS FOOLED FIGHT CRITICS

New York—At just about the spot where Babe Ruth of late was seen to bang his inaugural homer, another noted athlete who also grew too fat and then reformed, will entertain another varicose attendance next Saturday afternoon, perhaps the most turgid ever drawn to entertainment on the island of Manhattan. Jess Willard has trained with no less earnest determination than that which sent Babe Ruth up to his backwoods New England clearing last winter, sore at himself and sorrowing for his departed prowess and abated notoriety to mitigate his bay window.

Like Babe Ruth, who went away fat and came back lean, Willard took himself to Excelsior Springs, Mo., a few weeks ago where by some process which does not appear to have been hurtful he whittled himself down to symmetry.

Spotlight Occupied

The weeks have tiptoed by since Willard was around New York wearing a front that shivered and trembled like molded jelly when he put on the gloves and scampered about the garden gym with the ungainly grace of a skittish rhinoceros. There were the opening of baseball season, the Fulton-Johnson fight, and the Penn relays in between, so the date of the fight, May 12, seemed as far off as the millennium. Willard all but forgotten until recently when without the old blating of trumpets which used to herald his imminence, he came back to New York and settled himself on the high lane close by the heights of the Hudson, out Yonkers way.

Now the fight is less than a week away and Jess Willard by the same reckoning is one week from a situation very much the same that which confronted Babe Ruth when he went up to bat in the opening game of the season before 74,000 customers and bruised the ball for a home run.

If Willard does not knock out Young Floyd Johnson of Iowa, whose age is said to 22, little more than half of his own years, he will receive $25,000 for trying and will be invited to make himself absent in bulk from the heavyweight fight business. This is a very big task because Floyd Johnson has whipped large Bill Brennan and Fred Fulton whom he put on the floor for a short count, and he hasn't been seen in a horizontal posture in any of his fights which have been numerous if not important.

Floyd Can't Hit

Yet it isn't as great a task for Willard as it should be for most others because Johnson has shown that Willard need not bother much with defense. Foyd's hitting is so delletante that Willard may let a perfunctory guard suffice and may concentrate all his strength and tactics on the single purpose of swatting Johnson hard.

NOTICE

—Dance at Biron Wednesday, May 9th. Smiles Derkins at the Piano.—Adv.

Tex O'Rourke, the trainer and Jack Dempsey a well known pugilist both of whom have boxed with Willard say he hits a body blow which is more push than wallop but quite exhausting in its effects. He could not floor Jack Johnson in twenty-six rounds but wore him to weakness and made him slump down. In ten rounds he could not hurt Frank Morna.

Baraboo—Herman Accola and Ed. Hiller, accused of possessing moonshine and operating stills, were held for trial under $500 bail each when they were arraigned before Judge Anderson.

National Baby Week

Keeps Baby Square Shouldered.

One of the most useful little garments in Baby's wardrobe is the Vanta Teething Band, a combined abdominal support and sleeveless undershirt, which is put on as soon as the Abdominal Binder is no longer required and is worn all through the trying period when Baby is cutting its teeth. Several Teething Bands should be included in every layette, or purchased immediately after the baby is born, as the Abdominal Binder is worn only a few weeks.

Note in illustration how the shoulder straps fit close to the neck, throwing the weight of the garment squarely on the sturdy little back muscles, with no tendency to drag the shoulders down. This is important, for the bones of babies are soft and are easily distorted. Get the Vanta Teething Band, with slipless shoulder straps, and your baby will be in no danger of becoming round-shouldered.

The Vanta Teething Band is knitted without a seam and is extra soft—an ideal garment to be worn next to baby's skin. It can be readily removed when necessary without disturbing other clothing, as the shoulder straps are fastened with Twistless Tape bows—easily loosened to permit slipping the Band off, and quickly adjusted again when a fresh garment has been slipped on.

Made of the finest materials in all weights and sizes and thoroughly shrunk in the making so it won't shrink any more when you wash it. Call at our Infants' Wear Department and let us show you the complete line of Vanta Baby Garments, the kind that fasten with twistless tape—no pins, no buttons.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago—Detroit bunched hits on Monday and defeated Chicago, 8 to 4 in the final game of the series. George Dauss kept Chicago's hits well scattered with the exception of two innings, and as a result won his fifth consecutive game. Home runs by Cobb and Hooper, the former's with two on and the latter's with one, and the fielding of McClellan and Jones were features.

Marred by Fight

Philadelphia—(A. P.)—New York made a clean sweep of the series with Philadelphia on Monday, winning the final game, 13 to 8.

Jack Bentley won his first game in the major leagues, striking out six of the locals and allowing thirteen well scattered hits. Mokan hit two home runs and Kelley and Cunningham made successive homers in the seventh on two pitched balls.

Stengel, left fielder of the Giants and Weinert pitcher of the Phillies were banished in the fourth inning after a lively exchange of blows. The trouble started after a ball thrown by Weinert came dangerously close to Stengel's head and the latter threw his bat at the local twirler.

Indians Win

Cleveland—(A. P.)—The Indians evened up the series with St. Louis on Monday, wining by a score of 12 to 3. Uhle was in good form holding the Browns to seven hits and also starred at the bat, making three hits including two doubles. Manager Speaker was still under suspension, Sunina played center and Brower right.

Pittsburgh—(A. P.)—Pittsburgh hammered four St. Louis pitchers for twenty hits and a total of twenty-eight bases and won Monday's game 11 to 4. The veteran Babe Adams was hit hard by the Cardinals at times, but tightened in the pinches. The Pirates left Monday night on their invasion of the east after having won all seven games played at home. First Baseman Grimm of the Pirates who slammed out three hits on Monday, one a triple, has hit safely in all twenty games this season.

Braves Walloped

Boston—(A. P.)—Thirty-five players took part in the ten inning game which Brooklyn won from Boston on Monday the latter team making eight errors and using six pitchers. At one time the visitors led 8 to 0. Lack of control made trouble for the Dodger pitchers.

Wausau Youth is Hit By Pitched Ball; Later Dies

Wausau, Wis.—Charles Swann fourteen years of age, Saturday afternoon was hit in the mouth by a pitched ball, rupturing a blood vessel a hemhorrage which resulted in death while on his way to Wausau Memorial hospital where his mother Mrs. Helen Swann is a nurse.

The accident happened during a ball game at Kelly park, just south of the Northwestern railway viaduct on Grand avenue, shortly after three o'clock Saturday afternoon, Willie Hoppe was the pitcher and he was throwing balls to Charles Swann, the catcher, who wore no mask. Swann misjudged one of the thrown balls, which hit him in the mouth. He fell backward, blood gushing from his mouth.

Died In Car

His playmates carried him to the sidewalk, hailed the first northbound automobile, put the injured boy in it and went to the Wausau Memorial hospital. Upon arrival there it was found the boy was dead.

The body was taken to the J. Metz home, 427 Seymour street, where it will remain until the funeral services, which will be conducted at none o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Mary's church by the Rev. Father J. B. Hauck. Interment will follow in St. Joseph cemetery.

The deceased was born in Wausau on June 17, 1909. He lived at 520 Scott street with his mother and brother, Wilfred, who survive him. He was a student in the Eighth grade at St. Mary's school and also was a member of St. Mary's troop of the Boy Scouts of America.

In celebration of the semi-centennial of the Bellevue Training School for Uurses and fiftieth anniversary of public health and social work developed through the graduate nurse, a great meeting of nursing organizations is to be held today in New York.

Bob Gardner And Sweetser Losers in Amateur Meet

Deal, England—America's team of amateur golfing stars received a severe jolt in the opening round of the British amateur championship tournament here on Monday when it suffered the loss of two of its leading members.

Jess Sweetser, American amateur champion, was eliminated by E. Noel Layton of the Royal Cinque Ports club, 4 and 3, and Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, captain of the Walker Cup team and rated as one of the steadiest of the American campetitors, was 2 down at the finish to G. D. Forrester of Woking.

The American hopes now center on the proven mastery of Ouimet, who on Tuesday will meet Bernard Darwin, and to reach the semi-finals must work through the upper half of the draw in which are such players as Michael Scott, the French champion; Roger Wethered, Cyril Tolley and Tweedale.

Dr. Willing, if he defeats Robert Grant, Jr., on Tuesday, is likely to bump early into one of the Torrence brothers or one of the Scott brothers. Rotan on Tuesday will meet Leslie Schow, who vanquished Reginald Lewis on Monday, while Hunter will play K. F. Fradgley of the Royal North Devon club.

Deal, England—The British amateur golf championships started here Monday morning with a dozen Americans among the entrants.

British golf enthusiasts crossed their fingers, hoping that W. E. Holderness, present amateur title holder, Cyril Tolley, erstwhile champion, or Roger Wethered, would reach a form preventing repetition of the disastrous St. George challenge cup matches.

Francis Ouimet of Brookline, Mass.; Robert A. Gardner, captain of the American team; E. J. Wright of Los Angeles and Dr. O. P. Willing of Portland, Ore., are most feared among the American starters. Willing drew a bye in the first round and watched his comrades. There is a chance that Francis Ouimet and Cyril Tolley may cross clubs before the semi-final.

First pair got off from the starting tee at 9:30 a. m. Ouimet easily defeated A. H. Reed, 4 to 3. Roger Wethered had a harder time defeating E. R. Campbell one up.

BIG JESS MUST K. O. JOHNSON TO GET DEMPSEY TILT

WILLARD HAS WORKED FAITHFULLY TO GET IN CONDITION FOR BOUT ON MAY 12; HAS FOOLED FIGHT CRITICS

New York—At just about the spot where Babe Ruth of late was seen to bang his inaugural homer, another noted athlete who also grew too fat and then reformed, will entertain another varicose attendance next Saturday afternoon, perhaps the most turgid ever drawn to entertainment on the island of Manhattan. Jess Willard has trained with no less earnest determination than that which sent Babe Ruth up to his backwoods New England clearing last winter, sore at himself and sorrowing for his departed prowess and abated notoriety to mitigate his bay window.

Like Babe Ruth, who went away fat and came back lean, Willard took himself to Excelsior Springs, Mo., a few weeks ago where by some process which does not appear to have been hurtful he whittled himself down to symmetry.

Spotlight Occupied

The weeks have tiptoed by since Willard was around New York wearing a front that shivered and trembled like molded jelly when he put on the gloves and scampered about the garden gym with the ungainly grace of a skittish rhinoceros. There were the opening of baseball season, the Fulton-Johnson fight, and the Penn. relays in between, so the date of the fight., May 12, seemed as far off as the millennium, Willard all but forgotten until recently when without the old blatting of trumpets which used to herald his imminence, he came back to New York and settled himself on the high lane close by the heights of the Hudson, out Yonkers way.

Now the fight is less than a week away and Jess Willard by the same reckoning is one week from a situation very much the same that which confronted Babe Ruth when he went up to bat in the opening game of the season before 74,000 customers and bruised the ball for a home run.

If Willard does not knock out Young Floyd Johnson of Iowa, whose age is said to 22, little more than half of his own years, he will receive $25,000 for trying and will be invited to make himself absent in bulk from the heavyweight fight business. This is a very big task because Floyd Johnson has whipped large Bill Brennan and Fred Fulton whom he put on the floor for a short count, and he hasn't been seen in a horizontal posture in any of his fights which have been numerous if not important.

Floyd Can't Hit

Yet it isn't as great a task for Willard as it should be for most others because Johnson has shown that Willard need not bother much with defense. Foyd's hitting is so delletante that Willard may let a perfunctory guard suffice and may concentrate all his strength and tactics on the single purpose of swatting Johnson hard.

Tex O'Rourke, the trainer and Jack Dempsey a well known pugilist both of whom have boxed with Willard say he hits a body blow which is more push than wallop but quite exhausting in its effects. He could not floor Jack Johnson in twenty-six rounds but wore him to weakness and made him slump down. In ten rounds he could not hurt Frank Morna.

Baraboo—Herman Accola and Ed. Hiller, accused of possessing moonshine and operating stills, were held for trial under $500 bail each when they were arraigned before Judge Anderson.

National Baby Week

Keeps Baby Square Shouldered.

One of the most useful little garments in Baby's wardrobe is the Vanta Teething Band, a combined abdominal support and sleeveless undershirt, which is put on as soon as the Abdominal Binder is no longer required and is worn all through the trying period when Baby is cutting its teeth. Several Teething Bands should be included in every layette, or purchased immediately after the baby is born, as the Abdominal Binder is worn only a few weeks.

Note in illustration how the shoulder straps fit close to the neck, throwing the weight of the garment squarely on the sturdy little back muscles, with no tendency to drag the shoulders down. This is important, for the bones of babies are soft and are easily distorted. Get the Vanta Teething Band, with slipless shoulder straps, and your baby will be in no danger of becoming round-shouldered.

The Vanta Teething Band is knitted without a seam and is extra soft—an ideal garment to be worn next to baby's skin. It can be readily removed when necessary without disturbing other clothing, as the shoulder straps are fastened with Twistless Tape bows—easily loosened to permit slipping the Band off, and quickly adjusted again when a fresh garment has been slipped on.

Made of the finest materials in all weights and sizes and thoroughly shrunk in the making so it won't shrink any more when you wash it. Call at our Infants' Wear Department and let us show you the complete line of Vanta Baby Garments, the kind that fasten with twistless tape—no pins, no buttons.

Suffers Hunger and Cold to Prepare for Ministry

Boston, — Harold C. Cutbill, the "flying parson," has found out something about how the other half lives. The graduate of Boston University School of Theology who defeated Joie Ray on the track in New York in 1921 went hungry and homeless for two days while he wandered about this city in the raw winter winds with only a few coins in the pockets of his tattered clothes. Cutbill is at present a post-graduate student at Harvard University.

The experiment, which he said he undertook to fit him for the ministry, was begun after he had fasted for 24 hours. As he slouched through the downtown streets friends passed him by, not recognizing him.

"I did not go slumming out of idle curiosity," said Cutbill. "I was sincere in my experiment. I voluntarily suffered hunger, cold and other privations to put myself in the other fellow's place. To those who are ashamed and who need mercy and a sympathetic hand I want to minister."

Cutbill, who for two years acted as assistant pastor of the Tremont Street Methodist Church, on the first night of his wanderings was picked up by two plain clothes detectives as a suspicious character. At the police station he established his identity and was taken through Chinatown by a sergeant. The next day he spent his last dime. That night he slept in a mission for "down-and-outers" and washed windows to pay for his lodging.

Migratory Reveries Stir City's Casual Laborers

New York.—The "barkers" of employment agencies which cater to the Order of Casual and Migratory Laborers are again singing coaxing ditties on the sidewalks in front of their establishments, in an effort to obtain men to fill the increased demand for outdoor workers usual at this season.

"Hey, big boy, what d'ye say" the burden of their songs runs. "Long jobs, big pay, up state, down south, west all over. Take a squint at the board, step right up and park yer wad here 'till shippin' time."

Many itinerants, faced with the dwindling of their winter's "stake," the savings of last summer's wages which enabled them to idle through the cold weather, are responding to the cajolings of the "barker," but others, it was said, are marking time until things "open up" a little wider.

The employment agencies report a strong demand for railroad laborers and farmhands, with wages approximately the same as last year.

Woman's place is in the home, not the garden.

Swedes Yearn for U. S.

Stockholm,—"America fever," again has broken out in various parts of Sweden, according to statistical reports. This term is applied by the opponents of emigration to the yearnings of young men and women to seek their fortunes in the United States.

Sweden's quota under the United States immigration law is about 20,000 per year.

CALF CLUBS ARE BASIS OF BETTER DAIRY FARMING

BOYS AND GIRLS OF WOOD COUNTY HAVE ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED MUCH; COOPERATION GIVEN READILY.

By A. N. HOWALT
Wood County Agricultural School

I have no hesitancy in saying that one of the most important branches of agricultural is dairying. You are building up the soil at the same time you are improving your dairy. The basis for dairy improvement is better calves and thereby betters cows. The calf-club and the cow testing association are great factors in determining the progress and improvement of the the dairy industry in any country.

The men and women of the future are the boys and girls of the present. Into their hands will be entrusted the political and commercial interests of the country. The greatest responsibility they have to assume will be the perpetuity of successful agriculture, for this is the basis of all weath and the true source of happiness. The boy or girl who joins a calf club where the animals have been carefully selected belongs to an army of fighters not against humanity, but against poor cows unfavorable conditions and unprofitable dairying.

Membership in a calf club teaches the individual the general principles of thrift, application to work and perseverance with an enterprise. The calf club can be as far reaching in the community as an octopus drawing together such agencies as breed associations, dairy associations, banks and other commercial organizations, state and county agricultural agencies and the public school system, putting them all in close touch in their efforts to help boys and girls in work of community interest. Calf club work looks to the education of the club members as well as to the development of the dairy interests of the community. It assists the home and school in development of the dairy interests of the community. It assists the home and school in developing good citizens besides providing practical information in dairying.

To replace the aged and unprofitable dairy cow in this country it is necessary that from five to seven million calves be raised annually. Conservatively stated about one-third of these prove worthless at maturity because of their poor performance at the pail. These calves are quite a financial loss because of their low production at maturity as regards milk and because as beef they have been too expensive to raise. Care and feeding of calves are assuredly big factors in determining how well a calf develops even though it has a guaranteed birth-right in being of some good purebred family.

Let us digress for a moment and take inventory of our own county relative to this activity. There are several fine calf clubs in Wood county, all of which are located in the northern part of the county with the exception of the Rudolph club, but we need more of them to make Wood county the eternal home of good dairy cattle. There are about 30,000 calves born every year in Wood county; of these a large number are slaughtered before they reach maturity, which in many instances is the most profitable thing that could be done. With the upward trend in the price of feed it behooves the dairyman to consider seriously what heifer calves can be raised with a profit. No progressive dairyman will take chances in raising a heifer calf for milk purposes whose sire is either a beef bull or a mongrel.

Calves for club work can be obtained locally from good dairy stock in our own communities. The several breeders' associations sponsor calf club work, their officers give considerable of their time to aid the calf club cause in Wood county. The banks, recognizing the need for a staple dairy industry for our farmers, are more than willing to give financial aid to worthy boys and girls interested in the work. The United States Department of Agriculture, the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, and state department of public instruction are all cooperating to aid by every means in their power the ambitious, earnest and intelligent boys and girls, who are calf club members. The state fair division is making special inducements for calf club members and offer some exceptionally good premiums for prize winners this year. Professor T. L. Bewick, state club leader, is conducting a "State Round-Up" of the boys and girls agricultural clubs for the Wisconsin State Fair. Boys and girls interested in this exhibiting phase of the work can get further information by writing to the Wood County boys' and girls' Agricultural Club Headquarters, Wood County Agricultural School, Wisconsin Rapids.

An important consideration in calf club work is the selection of the calves or heifers. The parents can aid in this or if desired the county agent or the agricultural teacher. The fathers on the farms should be the greatest boosters for the club work because it is for their boys and girls, and one way to keep the young people interested in and happy with their free, wholesome, rural environment. Let's make Wood county the home of the dairy calf, with the motto, "To Make the Best Better."

Majority of Engineers Send Sons to College

Cleveland, — Approximately eighty per cent of the children of the nearly 90,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers get a higher education, according to an announcement made here by Albert F. Coyle, director of the department of educationol information of the brotherhood.

This information was made available through the announcement that the department of educational information had been instituted for the purpose of advising the members of the brotherhood regarding relative advantages, facilities, cost and entrance requirements of the various colleges and universities.

The announcement continues: "Dr. David Starr Jordan once remarked: 'It is a shame to waste a thousand dollar education on a fifty cent boy.' It is even more of a shame to waste a thousand dollar boy on a fifty cent college.

"Some colleges are strong in one subject and some in another. Some emphasize technology and science, and others culture and the arts. Some colleges develop sturdy, rugged, wholesome manhood and womanhood, while others are soft and flabby. Again some colleges provide scholarships and opportunities for outside employment in order to reduce the expense of education, while others have almost become fashionoble clubs for the sons and daughters of the rich.

"The department will gladly help their fellow workers to find the kind of education they want for their children."

Second Tuesday of Each Month to Be Sales Day

The big "Dollar Day" sale which the merchants of Wisconsin Rapids are holding Tuesday, May 8, is the first of a series of bargain events which will be held by the Wisconsin Rapids Retailers' Association on the second Tuesday of each month throughout the spring, summer and early fall.

The Retailers' association which includes in its membership of sixty practically all of the retail business houses of Wisconsin Rapids, was organized for the purpose of cementing a closer relationship between the merchants and people of the city and the people of the surrounding rural communities. To that end the second Tuesday of each month has been set aside as a special bargain day upon which buyers can be assured of the lowest possible prices on all advertised items.

It is the hope of the association that these sales will encourage farmers both to make their necessary purchases in Wisconsin Rapids and also to bring in farm produce of all sorts for sale to the merchants and people of the city.

Plans have been made for the holding of a different sort of a sale each month. The May event is a "Dollar Day" sale, with which people of this community are already familiar. For the June sale, which will be held on June 12, a "Community Sale", and other special events will be announced.

Danish Families Offer to Adopt Ruhr Children

Copenhagen.—Since France invaded the Ruhr the average Dane has his heart a little towards Germany, which to most Danes was always the traditional enemy. In the make-up of the Danish character there has always been a great deal of sympathy for any under-dog. Perhaps this is common in most small countries. At any rate, the very fellow who cheered every victory of the allies during the war now feels that the German is the under-dog and is being treated cruelly.

Consequently, organizations are being formed throughout the country which propose to bring to Denmark the children of the Ruhr who are said to be starving. The news of their distress pours in every day to this country, flowing with milk and butter and eggs and other good things which Danes are told the tiny tots in the Ruhr know nothing of. Already, it is reported, 2,000 of these little German children have been brought to Denmark.

It is reported that the French do not like this "sloppy sentimentalism" on the part of humble honest Danes. A section of the press reminds the public that the invasion of the Ruhr has sobered the arrogance which German elements in Slesvig have been showing to Denmark. It also gives striking evidence that a bitter war against Danism is still raging in reactionary circles of Germany. The Danish recovery, after the war, of part of the old crownland of Slesvig, which the Germans had taken away many years ago, is at the bottom of this ill feeling.

Portland, Ore., will entertain this year's convention of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Cheam Parish Council Has Dream of Tourist Influx

London.—At least one English village is planning to pay its share of the war debt to America, and incidently to rent a new townhall, by means of the money spent by American tourists.

The Cheam Parish council recently decided to rent as a council chamber a 400-year-old cottage. Opponents of the scheme were silenced by a member's proposal that the town clerk should charge American tourists a guinea to show them over the building.

The council has rented the house and will now lie in wait for such descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers as reach Cheam next summer.

A party of Americans visited the cottage last summer and made a generous offer for the place, intending to ship it bodily to the United States as a specimen of fine old English architecture.

Nineteen thousand insects are required to make one pound of the celebrated cochineal dye.

This Sales Day Bulletin goes, in addition to the regular subscription list of the Wisconsin Rapids Daily Tribune, to about 2,000 other Wood and Portage county residents.

If you did not receive a copy or have friends or neighbors who did not and who would be interested, send your name and address or those of your neighbors to the Daily Tribune and they will be placed on the regular mailing list for all succeeding issues, free of charge.

Sahara Desert Was Garden of Eden, Scientist Says

London.—In the past there have been many guesses and speculations as to the location of the Garden of Eden. Professor Sir Arthur Keith, lecturing before the Royal Society, treated a scientific audience to some original ideas of his own on the subject.

He said that in the "far distant past" the Sahara and the vast deserts of Arabia and the area stretching to Mongolia were "blooming."

"That large tract was really the Garden of Eden, man was driven from it not by a flaming sword but by a flaming sun. Every type of man could be found round that Garden of Eden.

"It is possible to go far beyond the days of Abraham and Tubal Cain and his smithy. It should be realized that Egypt and Babylonia were only remnants of a past civilization. Civilized man, I am convinced, is far older than is at present generally believed."

Senator Hanna's Yacht Drafted by Chinese Navy

Manila, P. I.,—The yacht El Agula, formerly owned by the late Senator Mark Hanna, of Ohio, is soon to be seen in action as a Chinese gunboat on the Yangtse river, according to Chau Chiaco, a local Chinese firm which has just purchased the craft from the Philippine department of the United States army for $6,025.

Would Have Holidays All Fall On Blue Monday

Honolulu,—Complete dislocation of the calendar, at least so far as holidays in Hawaii are concerned, is sought in a bill introduced into the house of territorial legislature by William J. Coelho.

The bill provides that each holiday observed in the territory, Christmas, Thanksgiving, Fourth of July, New Years and all others, shall be cerebrated on Monday, and that it be declared on the Monday nearest the date upon which it ordinarly would fall.

The purpose, Coelho explained, is to provide "two days of feasting and rest every time a holiday comes along."

In another bill, Coelho suggests that certain dates be designated as the times at which historical events happened in Hawaii. He explained that no one living can give testimony as to the exact dates of these occurences, and that such dates must be established for the benefit of court proceedings.

Hardy Farmers Leave England For Dominion

LONDON.—More than 20,000 English emigrants left their native land during 1922 to make their home in various parts of teh British Dominions. This exodus is a result of the government's overseas settlement policy. The number leaving each week this year is steadily increasing, and it is estimated that the total for 1923 will be doubt that of 1922.

Under the new Empire Settlement Act the government bears half of the cost of emigration, and in the case of ex-service men the entire cost is paid. A few of the British colonies pay a part of the emigrant's share of the costs on his arrival.

The emigration scheme will cost the British government approximately $5,000,000 by the end of 1924 for passage aid alone.

Contrary to general opinion, only a small number of the emigrants are from the ranks of the unemployed. They are mostly hardy farmers and domestic servants from the English provinces. One party of 800 emigrants is to be transported directly from the Hebrides Islands to Canada about the middle of April. Nearly three-fourths of this company are men, all of whom will work on farms while the women will go into domestic service.

Amur Mines Lack Capital

Vladivostok—The government still is in search of foreign capital to work the natural riches of the Priamur region, and foreigners may take up concessions on advantageous terms.

A significant fact is that there are more Japanese coming into this port than are leaving. Some American miners from Alaska also have come to Vladivostok with money, and intend to take up gold mining in the gold is known to exist.

Two Rivers—The Rev. Philip Mercer has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church at Oshkosh.

PATIENCE NEEDED TO FIND LODGING IN FRENCH CAPITAL

AMERICANS HAVE SPENT YEARS TRYING TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF FINDING APARTMENT: NO UNFURNISHED APARTMENTS

PARIS,—An American woman would have a wonderful time organizing her home in Paris, and enjoy every moment spent in arranging her apartment, provided she were endowed with a sense of humor and never lost her patience.

The first thing is to find your apartment. Some Americans have spent years trying to solve this problem but without success. There are virtually no unfurnished apartments. The war stopped new building, and today real estate agencies follow a policy of leasing all the unfurnished apartments they can find, of furnishing them, and then renting them as furnished abodes. Another policy which dashes the hopes of seekers of unfurnished flats is that of giving leases on apartments provided the lessor will purchase all the furniture they contain, and at very high prices. When the agile agencies whose organization is superb, uncover a vacant flat they hasten to stick in a bed, a bureau a carpet and a few chairs and then gravely announce that flat seekers can have their prize if they pay cash for the "exquisite furnishings."

Experience Helps

But in spite of the foregoing an American woman came back to Paris a few weeks ago, after an absence of several years, and found an unfurnished apartment at the end of three days. Which demonstrates that if you know how to go about things in Paris and see the right people, things can be accomplished in France as in other lands. It is knowing the psychology of the people you have to deal with, and realizing that courtesy and patience ever bring their reward.

Then began the struggle to furnish the apartment and here again quick results were obtained by going about it the right way. The lease itself is an amazing document, full of technical details and conditions. In addition to the rent there are the extras like hot water, heating, collection of garbage, fees for the porter, etc. Futhermore there is the tax paid the government on each window, and the lease must be officially registered at an extra charge. No proprietor in Paris today will do anything in the way of repairs, so the new occupant had to find painers, decorators, men to clean and wash floors, and women to wash the windows. She supplied her own electric fixtures; she had the electric battery in the kitchen removed from the wall in conformity with new regulations; she had all exposed wires covered with moulding to prevent fire and she tipped every man and woman who did anything at all.

Then there came the carpet layers and then the curtain hangers, the plumbers and the carpenters, each contributing something to organization and happiness.

But with all that, it is fine fun setting up home life in Paris. All you have to do is to find your flat and, store up an inexhaustible supply of patience.

A "For Sale" ad will sell it.

Beseech City Jailer to Provide Bed and Board

Vienna,—It is hard luck to be out of work these days in Vienna, but to be out of work and out of jail at the same time is a sign that your hoodoo is working overtime. For Vienna jails are not unduly uncomfortable, and once within their gates the prisoner must be fed until the happy day of his release rolls around.

The city courts sometimes sentence men to jail terms, leaving open for future determination the date upon which the sentence is to begin. Hence there are always a number of prospective prisoners about. Recently several hundred of these men appeared before the central jail one morning, and demanded of the governor that he let them in to begin serving their terms. They were out of work and assured beds and meals, and some warmth, looked mighty good. The governor stood on the jail steps, argued that the jail was crowded to overflowing and requested the petitioners to exercise some little patience.

"You will all get your turn," he pleaded, "and if perchance you are pardoned altogether, surely you'd like that."

"Indeed we will not stand being put off; we are out of work, and we want to be fed until there are jobs again for us," they shouted back.

The governor finally had to creat room for a few dozen, and he promised to take the rest in as soon as he had room.

Tradition Leads to Finding Rock Long Submerged

Honolulu, T. H. — A tale handed down from generation to generation of Hawaiians has led to the discovery off the coast of Kauai of a sunken rock, previously uncharted, by Lieutenant Commander H. C. Hamlet, U. S. C. G. S., captain of the cutter Mojave.

The tradition concerning the rock was that years ago the inhabitants of Lauai and the island of Miihau obtained food by diving down to the rock and taking shellfish from its surface. Its location was forgotton with the passing years. Recently residents of the island requested the United States lighthouse service to investigate the report.

The Mojave cruised around Kauai until the rock was located in latitude 21, 41 north and longitude 160, 38 west. The least depth of the sea over it was found to be 39 feet. The rock is out of the regular steamship lanes, but it will be charted for future reference.

Maine Sold Land for Song; Wants it Back for Fortune

Augusta, Maine.— When the state of Maine in 1888 sold Ogunquit Beach in the town of Wells to a New Hampshire resident for $100, it disposed of a property which since the popularity of the Maine shore as a summer resort became marked has returned great profits. Now the owner who has since sold to cottagers much of the property, threatens to sell the beach itself to persons who would close it to the public, and permanent and summer residents have asked the state to buy it back for $35,000.

The beach property was part of the Ferdinand Gorges grant in the early days of the colonization of the Maine coast. In 1646 the Gorges family disposed of it, and in 1678 the state of Massachusetts took over the property. In 1821 the new state of Maine bought half of it, acquiring the rest 30 years later.

After the sale of the property, residents formed the Ogunquit Corporation, which has leased it for successive terms of years in order to keep it open to the public. The lease calls for a payment of $1,500 a year. Although the latest lease has several years to run, the owner has attacked its validity, claiming that the corporation has violated some of the terms of the contract.

Italian Queen Prepares to Entertain British Rulers

Rome—Queen Helena of Italy is dividing her time between the preparations for the wedding of her daughter, Yolanda, and the preparations for the visit of the king and queen of Great Britain, which is to take place next May.

The royal visitors are to be the guests of the Italian sovereign and will occupy the entire south wing of the Quirnil palace.

As the queen of England has never visited Italy before, not even as a princess, special arrangements are planned to make her stay here interesting and enjoyable. Queen Mary's desire to have two or three days entirely devoted to sightseeing will be respected.

Minneapolis Hotel To Have Radio Plugs In All Rooms

Minneapolis,—In keeping with the rapid progress of the radio movement, it will soon be possible to "listen in" from rooms of a large hotel here, which has contracted for the connecting of each of several hundred rooms with radio plugs. The guest will not have to invest in a receiving set, as headphones may be rented for a small fee from the clerk's office.

According to the plan of engineers who have worked on the scheme for several weeks, a massive aerial and three power receiving stations will be equipped in one of the top floors of the hotel. Each room will have a radio plug connected to one of the three receiving sets. Feasibility of the plan was proved recently when more than 100 rooms listened in on one concert.

The guest who wishes radio entertainment may call the office and a set of phones will be sent to him. Once connected in the plug, the set cannot be removed until released by a hotel employe, thus insuring against theft by any unscrupulous guest. A small fee is added to the hotel bill for the use of the receiving phones.

RICE DEARER IN JAPAN

Rice Dearer In Japan

TOKIO.—Despite last year's bumper crop the price of rice in February was yen 30 a koku, having risen yen 5 since the beginning of the year. This compares with an average price of yen 19.18 in 1917 and yen 38.20 in 1919.

The purchase by the government of a million koku of last year's crop, with a view of stabilizing the market is held by some to be responsible for the present comparatively high price.

In Japan the housewife takes time by the forelock and starts her spring cleaning in December.
